UMBRELLAS

NOTHING better to lay up for a rainy day than one of our choice Umbrellas. There's an individuality about our Umbrellas from the fact that we purchase tops in gross lots from manufacturers who make tops only: our handles, too, are purchased in this way—no two handles alike. We assemble them in our own factory, so that an umbrella purchased here is unique—distinctly different from others. Every frame we use is the famous Fox "Paragon"; materials also the highest grade.

Did you ever think that an Umbrella is the very thing for an Autumn Birthday or Wedding Gift? You would be pleasantly surprised at our price-reasonableness.

NEW YORK FEELS MORE CONFIDENT

Measures Taken by Leaders in Finance Have Reassuring Effect

CRISIS THOUGHT TO BE OVER

All Institutions Worthy of Assistance Get Ail Needed Support

New York, Oct. 23.—There was a sharp turn of feeling in financial quarters late today, renewed confidence in local banking institutions taking the place of the panicky feeling that has threatened several houses and demoralized the stock exchange for the past few days. Tonight the financiers whose opinions are most highly regarded by the public expressed the conviction that the worst was over, and that out of the present confusion conditions more stable than have heretofore existed were rapidly shaping themselves.

Many of the banking men who had labored day and night recently that the integrity of New York financial institutions might be maintained, went home early this evening, satisfied that the institutions which have been found worthy of support were fortified against runs or other contingencies. Financiers who have met the storm in sober mood left their offices smiling and chatting, and with a general bearing that spoke volumes to those who are accustomed to read the news of the street in the faces of its leaders.

The Trust Company of America will be open as usual at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, prepared for eventualities. So manifest was the strength of the bank that many who withdrew deposit early in the day redeposited them before the doors were closed. The total resources of the company when last reported were in excess of $50,000,000. Several millions were withdrawn today, but funds to satisfy every claim were said to be at hand. This was the only run of importance today, and it was an encouraging feature. The depositors in the Dollar Savings Bank in the Bronx, of which President John Haffen is the head, became uneasy and many clamored for their money under the impression that the deposits were in jeopardy. This fright over, matters assumed a more hopeful aspect because the uninformed element among the depositors is usually hard to control in times of general financial excitement.

The clearing house committee appointed to examine the national banks which have been under criticism, said today that the condition of the banks just going by the clearing house was excellent. Although a few of them might have to be further assisted, they said conditions were fast becoming normal.

The failure of the Knickerbocker Trust company, which suspended yesterday, to reopen today, did not have such an adverse effect as might have been expected, and the early action of Superintendent of Banks Skinner in taking possession of the institution on the advice of the attorney-general, tended toward a feeling of security. There was a sort of tacit understanding between the banks and the members of the stock exchange to aid each other, the banks by loaning money at rates something like the normal, thus preventing the bottom dropping out of the prices on the exchange. Though call money ruled at nominally 70 per cent. today, and final accommodation was obtained at 90 per cent., throughout the day several of the biggest banks renewed loans at 6 per cent., and millions were let out at half the interest rate.

At 12:30 o'clock J. P. Morgan and James Stillman, president of the National City bank, made a hurried call upon Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou at the Manhattan hotel. Mr. Morgan declined to say anything about the financial situation. As the visit of Mr. Morgan and Mr. Stillman to the secretary at so late an hour was unexpected, much interest was aroused in the developments arising therefrom.

President Thorn, of the Trust company of America, announced at midnight that his company would open for business at the usual hour tomorrow with ample funds to meet all claims.

After a series of conferences at the office of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., the appended statement was issued: "A meeting of presidents of the trust companies was held at the office of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., 23 Wall street, New York, on October 23, 1907. John A. Stewart, chairman of the United States Trust company, was in the chair. After discussing the situation it was decided that a committee of five should be appointed, similar in character to the clearing house committee of the banks, to whom applications for assistance from trust companies may be referred, and that this committee should have power to call for information from the various trust companies and to report to meetings of the presidents to be held from time to time, or at a fixed time, which might hereafter be agreed upon, the result of an investigation, accompanied by advice as to what had better be done in the matter.

"The following committee was then appointed by Mr. Stewart: Edward King, president of the Union Trust company; Edwin S. Martin, president of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company; J. N. Wallace, president of the Central Trust company; J. W. Castles, president of the Guaranty Trust company; John I. Waterbury, president of the Manhattan Trust company. It being also understood that John A. Stewart and J. P. Morgan will actively co-operate with the committee."

The formation of this committee was the result of Mr. Morgan's earnest efforts to relieve the existing financial situation. The committee's power will be largely protective and supervisory. Its personnel is a guarantee of ultra-conservation, including, as it does, the old line financiers, who have steadfastly opposed the methods of the trust companies of later years.

Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou today made large deposits in local banks. He is in close touch with the present situation in this city and believes he will be able to cope with it. It was learned on good authority that the amount of cash deposited with the New York banks by the secretary of the treasury is $10,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller has taken an active interest in the financial situation and he has arranged to loan very large sums to a number of New York financial institutions. "I think," said Mr. Rockefeller to a reporter of the Associated Press this evening, "there is a great alarm among investors, although not warranted, and I hope the good common sense of the American people will control the situation."

Washington, Oct. 23.—Controller of the U. S. Treasury Ridgeley today gave out a statement showing that the general feeling indicates an absolutely sound situation, that there was not the slightest need of apprehension about the banks and trust companies of the country, that the banks of the reserve cities have every disposition to leave their balances in New York and other central reserve cities, and attributes the trouble in New York to the condition of a few concerns discredited by the operations of their officers, and to the different prices of stocks and securities as between New York city and the country banks.

REBUILDING OF QUEBEC BRIDGE

Deputation Visits Premier—Engineer Cooper Speaks of Collapse

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—An influential deputation from Quebec waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier this morning in regard to rebuilding the Quebec bridge. It is understood that the deputation explained the financial position of the Quebec Bridge company since the collapse of the structure in August, and also discussed the question of the Government taking over the completion of the work. Laurier, after a long commission enquiring into the cause of the collapse makes his report, it is not likely that any announcement will be made as to what course the government will take.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—According to a New York dispatch, Theodore Cooper, consulting engineer of the Quebec Bridge company, is quoted as having told the royal commission investigating the causes of the collapse of the structure, that if prompt action had been taken to protect chord 9 west from further deflection when the band was discovered, the bridge would not have gone down. This, he said, would have taken only about three years' work, and the expense would have been about a hundred dollars in timber and bolts. It was not the best plan of bridge, but it was the best that could be built with the money, declared Mr. Cooper. The amount to build it was estimated to a certain extent, and the bridge had to be planned to meet this amount.

Hon. R. Lemieux Starts

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Minister of Labor and Postmaster General, who is going to Japan as special envoy of the Canadian Government in reference to Japanese immigration into Canada, left tonight for Vancouver, en route for the Orient. A large number of his friends gathered at the Windsor Street station to bid the Canadian envoy and Mrs. Lemieux farewell.

CRISIS EXTENDS TO PITTSBURG

Westinghouse Concerns Are Placed in the Hands of Receivers

STOCK EXCHANGE NOT OPEN

Action Taken is Expected to Prevent the Spread of Trouble

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 23.—A flurry in local financial circles caused by the embarrassment of four concerns of the Westinghouse interest was quickly ended here today by the prompt action of the Pittsburg clearing house association and the Pittsburg stock exchange. To night the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, the Westinghouse Machine Company and the Security Investment Company, are in the hands of receivers appointed by Judge Ewing of the U. S. Circuit court. A fourth, the X-ray Lamp Company, will be turned over to receivers in the morning.

The Pittsburg stock exchange, which was closed promptly this morning when informed of the situation by the Pittsburg clearing house association, will probably remain closed tomorrow. This action was taken to prevent unnecessary sacrifice of values or heavy liquidation. Statements issued late today by George Westinghouse, prominent bankers and officers of the exchange, and the clearing house committee show conclusively that the financial situation is sound, and there is no danger. Tonight the local situation is believed to be in better condition than it has been for some time. That the local banks are in good condition was shown today when it became public that the National bank has sent $100,000 in gold to New York institutions. Several other local banks took similar action.

The embarrassment of the Westinghouse companies was unexpected. The suspension of the stock exchange caused more alarm than the situation warranted, but almost immediately statements of a reassuring character were issued, and the action taken was given hearty endorsement on all sides. Six receivers were appointed by the court today, and each was required to give a bond of $100,000.

Speaking of the situation in Pittsburg resulting from today's development, one of the best informed businessmen said: "Now that receivers have been asked for the Westinghouse interests, the situation in Pittsburg is much better than before. The Westinghouse Machine Company has almost the same, and will show a profit. The X-ray Lamp Company earns $700,000 a year. The Investment Security Company is not so profitably situated. The receiverships mean that the works will now run full time. The scarcity of working capital caused the trouble. The amount of indebtedness is about forty-five million dollars. Not enough of this amount is held by Pittsburg banks to occasion any alarm."

OPTIMISM WARRANTED.

Manager of Bradstreet's Thinks Well of Conditions in West.

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 23.—T. C. Irving, of Toronto general manager in Canada for Bradstreet's, is in the city. Mr. Irving accompanied the C.P.R. party which included Sir Thomas Shaghnessy on their tour west, but left the party at Calgary.

"I see nothing but the most promising optimism in this vast western country," said Mr. Irving to a reporter, "and the optimism is warranted. There is nothing which justifies pessimism. You have land with mineral and vegetable wealth in it, and in my opinion should have no fears for the future, for you are really better off than the east."

"I think that the crops are perhaps somewhat better in the south than in the north of the province, but there is very little difference."

"What effect is the money stringency having on business?" "It is having an excellent effect on the country, and when it lets up matters will be brighter than ever before. It takes a lot of money to build up a new country like the west, and naturally the country will have to wait for the money required. I think that inside of a year matters will be considerably changed."

MANITOBA CABINET.

Portfolio of Telephones and Telegraphs To Be Created.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—One of the acts which will be passed by the local legislature at the next session will be that creating a portfolio of telephones and telegraphs, of which Hon. J. H. Howden will be the minister. At the present time Mr. Howden is commissioner of railways and has charge of the telephone and telegraph work. Formerly, before Mr. Howden entered the cabinet, the minister of public works had charge of telephone and telegraph matters, and the minister of agriculture was also commissioner of railways.

Editor Asselin's Case.

Quebec, Oct. 23.—Oliver Asselin was admitted to bail this morning after a severe lecture by Judge Blanchet, who said he considered that Asselin had been sufficiently punished for his contempt of court, by 24 hours in a cell. He was released in bonds of $1,000. His case was fixed for next term of court.

NEVADA BANK SUSPENDS State Bank and Trust Company Unable to Make Collections

Reno, Nev., Oct. 23.—The State Bank and Trust company with headquarters at Carson and branches at Goldfield, Tonopah, Manhattan and Blair, closed its doors this morning. The state examiner is in charge. The difficulty was due to inability to realize on stocks placed as security for a $500,000 loan made by the Sullivan Trust company last year.

T. B. Hickey, president of the bank, is one of the wealthiest men in the state, and the bank assets, it is thought, exceed the liabilities. No fear is entertained that depositors will lose a cent. Mr. Hickey is now in San Francisco.

After the announcement that the Bank and Trust company had temporarily suspended, the New and bank, Frank Golden, president, of Carson, Tonopah, Goldfield, Manhattan and Reno, announced that the bank would be closed for three days to have sufficient coin shipped in to prepare for any rush. There is no excitement, and the feeling prevails that there will be no failure.

Goldfield, Nev., Oct. 23.—The State Bank and Trust company closed its doors at 11 o'clock today. A notice posted on the doors says that the suspension was instructed from the home bank of Carson City, and was due to the heavy drain on deposits the last few months, following labor troubles and inability to make collections. They further say that the resources are ample to pay all depositors.

Given Twenty Years

Sherbrooke, Que., Oct. 23.—Albert Greenhill, convicted of murderous assault on Lily Lynn at Melbourne, Que., was today sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

VILLAGES RAZED BY EARTHQUAKE

Many People in Southern Italy Under Ruins of Their Houses

Catanzaro, Italy, Oct. 23.—A violent earthquake was recorded here at half past nine this evening. No damage was done. The earthquake was felt also at Messina and Reggio. The people are camping out of doors.

Paris, Oct. 23.—According to a despatch received here today, the earthquake in Italy was much more serious than at first reported. Many of the villages that were destroyed by the earthquake of 1905 and since reconstructed, have been destroyed a second time, and a number of persons were buried in the ruins.

DR. WORKMAN TO RESIGN

Governors of Wesleyan College Reach Decision in His Case

Montreal, Oct. 23.—The controversy which has been going on relating to the teachings of Rev. Dr. Workman, of Wesleyan Theological college, this city, has reached a crisis, for by a vote of ten to seven, the governors of the college resolved to ask Dr. Workman to resign.

This decision was reached at a meeting held in St. James church parlors, at which nineteen of the governors were present, including Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist church of Canada.

Dr. Workman's interpretation of the scriptures was held to diverge too far from the standards, though his sincerity, his scholarship, and his magnetic influence over students were unquestioned. The governors did not reach their decision until three this morning.

Japanese Steamer Sunk

Tokio, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Moji reports that the Japanese freight steamer Kokwo, from Hongkong to Yokohama went ashore in a storm off Rischima, and is a complete wreck. Loss, $700,000.

Helps Labor Candidate

Toronto, Oct. 23.—W. F. Maclean, Conservative member of parliament for South York, is assisting J. D. Jacobs, the labor candidate in the London bye-election. Maclean will address a meeting in the city hall, London, in Jacobs' interest tomorrow night.

Wants Japanese Miners

St. John, N. B., Oct. 23.—James Barnes, interested in Queen's County coal mines, declares that the Provincial Government and the mine owners should get together and import Japanese from British Columbia to work in the mines, which, he says, are greatly undermanned.

Three Children Burned

Quebec, Oct. 23.—News reached here today of the burning to death of three children in a fire which destroyed their home at Quatchan Falls, Lake St. John, Sunday night last. The children were those of Mr. Senechal, and they were playing together in the top storey of the house when the fire broke out. In the excitement they were forgotten by their parents, and it was too late when an attempt was made to rescue them. The house was reduced to ashes.

Challenges Mr. Bourassa

Quebec, Oct. 23.—Hon. Mr. Turgeon, Minister of Crown Lands and Forests in the Quebec Government, has written to Henri Bourassa, M. P., asking him to accept the candidature against him (Mr. Turgeon) in the forthcoming election in the county of Bellechasse. I have resigned as member for Bellechasse, as a sequel to the shameful campaign you have conducted against me," said Mr. Turgeon, "and I think it will be difficult for you to escape it." It is rumored that three ministers, Messrs. Turgeon, Taschereau and Devlin, will meet with opposition in the coming elections.

EMPRESS OF CHINA SINKS AT DOCK

The Mishap Apparently Caused by Some Valve Being Left Open

STERN RESTS ON THE MUD

Leak Has Been Stopped and Vessel Will Be Righted This Morning

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—The C. P. R. steamship Empress of China was observed to be sinking at the dock about 6 o'clock this evening, and for some time continued to settle lower in the water. She now lies with her stern evidently resting on the mud at the bottom, but with her waterline at the bow high above water. It is the general opinion that a sea cock was left open, and as the cargo was being taken on in the afternoon, the hole got below the water and it rushed in. Water was first noticed seeping into the stern about 6 o'clock by a longshoreman. The ports were hastily closed, but before the cause of the trouble could be located, the vessel suddenly careened and a rush of water came in.

By this time all hands below were frantically closing everything up, and in this confusion it is believed several deadlights in the Chinese quarters, through which some of the Chinese crew were fishing, were left open, and that more water was taken through these. In the engine room the fires were promptly drawn, but the stopping of the dynamo plunged the ship in darkness. She listed heavily to port and sank at the stern. The Chinese aboard seized their belongings and stampeded for shore, but officers herded them on the upper deck, where they were kept jabbering excitedly till about 10:30, when they were allowed to land and were quartered for the night in the detention shed.

News of the sinking of the Empress caused a considerable sensation in the city, and large crowds went down to the dock. The first diver who came lost part of his gear, and there was some delay before another man arrived. Two steam fire engines were rushed to the scene, but only one was used to pump water out of the sinking boat. The tide was ebbing, and at ten o'clock the ship appears to be resting on the bottom, with her upper works at the stern about 6 feet above the water level. A dense fog and the absence of the usual ship lights make it difficult to see aught.

At 11:30 the divers had located the leak and succeeded in stopping it. The water is being pumped out and by morning the vessel will be righted again. So far as can be learned, all the cargo destroyed will be about 800 bags of flour. The other material was less destructible. The damaged cargo will be taken off and fresh cargo loaded, but it is hoped to have the vessel ready to sail on schedule time next week. Hon. R. Lemieux is booked to sail on her.

Darga Singh, the Hindu shot by Bowen, a young English farm laborer on Tuesday night, died today. Bowen says he would do it again under the circumstances. He is being held on the charge of murder.

At the sitting of the Japanese claims commission today, the proprietor of the Japanese local paper put in a claim for $20 for a broken window which it had cost $10 to repair. Commissioner King rebuked him severely, and he gave up an excuse that they were charged the government twice. Another Japanese swore that he made $10 a day net profits in the jewelry repair business. All claims for loss of business or time are figured at a very high rate.

The city council at a special meeting this morning discussed the question of putting in a bill to the governor, ordering the extra expense to maintain order during the days and nights of the recent riot. The matter will be laid before Mr. Mackenzie King, the commissioner.

Pumping Gear Sent Over

Additional pumping gear was hastily gathered together at the yards of the B. C. Salvage company here last evening and shipped to Vancouver on the Princess Victoria to aid in the work of pumping out the Empress of China. The company's wrecking vessel, the Salvor, is already in Vancouver whither she went for the purpose of raising the Tartar so that now that the cause of the accident is known, the valve can be closed and the pumps put to work immediately.

Several Victoria divers were notified that their services might be necessary and they left by the Princess last night.

MORE SURVEYORS NEEDED.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—With a view to increasing the number of surveyors, the Dominion government has decided to offer special inducements to young men who desire to adopt the profession. Before being eligible for final examination as a surveyor, the law requires three years' service under a Dominion lands surveyor, of which twelve months must be on a survey party. In the case of graduates in engineering, these periods are reduced to twelve and six months respectively. To help pupils in complying with the law the government will offer places on survey parties to those who have successfully passed the preliminary examination. Graduates in engineering will go as assistants at four dollars a day, and others at three dollars a day.

COMPANIES COME TO AN AGREEMENT

Electric Company Starts Up Steam Plant for Street Railway Service

The Esquimalt Waterworks company and the British Columbia Electric company have come to an agreement over the proposition of the former that the latter company, in view of the reduced water supply at Goldstream, should start up its steam plant, on Store street to supply power for the car and motor service only, using water from Goldstream for electric lighting purposes.

As the result of a letter written by R. H. Sperling, general manager of the British Columbia Electric company, to T. Lubbe, manager of the waterworks company, a meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the electric company's offices. There were present at the meeting Messrs. Lubbe, J. A. Sawyer, W. E. Oliver, R. H. Sperling and A. T. Toward. After a considerable discussion the electric company agreed to waive some of the conditions which on Monday it had notified the waterworks company it would insist upon and to this amended proposal the manager of the waterworks company agreed.

As a result the electric company started up its steam plant last night and announced that after a shut-down for several hours in order to allow of some alterations in the machinery, the plant would in all likelihood be in full running order and be in operation at 6 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Toward stated last night that there was every reason to suppose that the plant would be fully equal to the task of operating the cars though since the plant was installed the service had been improved by heavier cars, but he thought a good service would be maintained.

Letter to Mr. Lubbe.

After the refusal of the waterworks company on Monday afternoon to entertain the proposition made by the electric company, if the latter should start up its steam plant, the whole matter was again considered by the electric company, the general manager of which, R. H. Sperling, yesterday morning wrote as follows to Mr. Lubbe:

My company is in receipt of your favor of the 22nd instant and we much regret to find that you are not willing to agree to our running the steam plant under the very reasonable conditions named in our letter of the 22nd instant. The question of conserving the remaining water at Goldstream is, as you have told us, a very serious one; and, as we are desirous that the public shall not suffer any inconvenience, we are quite willing to waive any difference of opinion there may have been in the past between our respective companies and to go in to the matter with you personally or by correspondence at the earliest possible moment.

My company feels that as the situation is so serious, no dispute between our respective companies should be allowed to interfere with the public welfare.

R. H. SPERLING,
General Manager.

Electric Company's Offer.

As a result of this letter the meeting was held and the whole situation gone over. The outcome of the meeting is shown in the following letter from Mr. Sperling to Mr. Lubbe:

In reference to our consultation with you this afternoon and to our letter of the 22nd inst., we, at your request, withdraw that letter and submit the following proposal in lieu thereof:

That our company operate the car and motor service with power from our steam plant until further notice from our company, your company paying our company's actual cost of operating the steam plant, subject to the following conditions, viz:

That if the steam plant is at any time insufficient to operate the car and motor service, that then the water power may be used to make up any insufficiency, if sufficient water be available.

That the water power plant may be used to operate the car and motor service at any time should it become necessary to shut down the steam plant temporarily for repairs, provided sufficient water be available.

That our company during the period of the operation of the steam plant, save only for the amount of water actually used by us at Goldstream.

That the user of the steam plant shall not in any way prejudice the present existing rights of either party.

That the arrangement shall cease to exist in the event of the present water supply ceasing to be sufficient to supply the electric lighting needs of our company.

On receipt of a letter from you accepting the terms of this letter, we will immediately take steps to have our steam plant put into operation.

R. H. SPERLING,
General Manager.

To this letter Mr. Lubbe replied that his company was willing to accept the stipulations contained therein, and thus the differences between the two companies have been settled.

Waives Stipulation

It will be noticed that the electric company has waived its previous stipulation that the waterworks company should bear the cost of all repairs to the steam plant which might become necessary in its operation. Also the clause which stated that the user of the steam plant shall not in any way prejudice the present existing rights of either party.

Mr. Lubbe claimed that his company could not accept the original proposition as the electric company's rights to the exclusive use of the water for power was attempted to be established. Since a right, Mr. Lubbe claimed, does not exist, in the original agreement of 1897 the right did exist, but it had since been cancelled. The waterworks company could not, therefore, become a party to the proposed agreement which would re-establish the old situation. As these facts were stated by Mr. Lubbe to the electric company's first stipulations had been met the waterworks company were quite willing to accept the amended proposition.

Erroneous Idea

Mr. Toward in discussing the situation, stated that the press reports conveyed an erroneous idea in one or two particulars. In the first place, the company had not until last Monday, received any notification from Mr. Lubbe that the water supply at Goldstream was such as to warrant the electric company starting up its steam plant. Mr. Lubbe was reported as saying that sometime ago he had notified the mayor and also Mr. Trillip, superintendent of the electric company that as a result of the falling water supply, it might soon be necessary for the Electric Co. to turn on its steam plant. Such communications to the mayor or superintendent were not notice to the electric company, which had it turned on its steam plant without first being officially notified by the waterworks company, would have been breaking one of the terms of the contract between the two companies.

Mr. Toward also stated that for the past year the electric company had actually paid for an average of 13,000,000 gallons per day, while the actual amount of water supplied per day had been very close to 11,750,000 gallons.

TRIP TO HAPPYLAND IS BIG SUCCESS

Amateur Production is Credit to City—Will Be Repeated Tonight

"A Trip to Happyland" drew a good house last night, but not so many people as ought to have attended at the Victoria theatre. The entertainment is a musical travesty, and is very interesting throughout, although perhaps the work of the comedians is just a little too long drawn out. There was a stage full of people varying from men, whose stature was not much, if any, under six feet, down to little tots, who were not far from babyhood. The costumes were varied. Those of them that were intended to be pretty were very pretty; those that were meant to be grotesque were certainly grotesquely so. The singing was good, not with quite as full a tone as could be wished, but that feature of the bill will be improved tonight. It was very sweet and musical. The soloists were Miss Muriel Hall, Miss Schwenkers, Miss Daisy Bernard, Miss Glen Switzer, Mr. Godfrey, Mr. J. W. Petch, Miss Hall has a very sweet voice and sings with excellent style. If she will practice, so as to strengthen her lower tones, she will be a very effective singer. She made an excellent impression last night.

Miss Schwenkers gave much pleasure by her own part, and her singing with warm applause. Miss Bernard is not the possessor of a strong voice, but her tones are sweet and her manner is very taking. Miss Glen Switzer, is an attractive young artist. Mr. Booth is too well known on the amateur stage to require special mention. Mr. Petch has not made many public appearances. He has a very pleasing voice, which as it grows stronger will enable him to accomplish much. Mr. Fred, White's make-up as General O'Which was admirable. G. G. Pooley was very satisfactory as a railway official. The German roles taken by Messrs. Mason and Barry Earle were quite up to the professional standard. Mr. W. H. Kidner looked the part of a Country Squire to perfection. Mr. W. H. P. Sweeney as a colored individual was very good. Mr. Sidney Petch was true to the life as a Chinaman. Mr. J. H. Findlay played the part of Little Willie greatly to the amusement of everyone. Miss L. Bassett as the School ma'am, Mrs. Cameron as Ma'am O'Which and Miss N. Waddington as the fortune teller handled their little roles very well.

The bridesmaids were a very pretty group; the Irish maids looked very pretty, the boys were just boys and that is what they ought to be. The musical numbers were very pretty, they included, "O what a night to spend," which gave Miss Bernard and Mr. Findlay a chance for some neat comedy work. "The Colleen Bawn" which is a dainty little song and chorus, very daintily rendered. "Albion," which is a song about the habit of short solos. "So Long Mary" in which Miss Glen Switzer sang and danced very prettily, supported by an excellent chorus with a very pleasing echo song from the gallery by her little sister. "Heart to Let," "Holding Hands" and "Good old Canada" the phantoms were well put on.

Altogether the entertainment is an excellent one. Mr. James W. Evans is to be congratulated upon his successful manner in which he has trained his company, and the performers themselves deserve a great deal of credit for the remarkably good work they were able to do after such a short period of training. A bumper house ought to greet the performance tonight.

The Nainaimo assize occupied but one day, the solitary case which came up for trial being disposed of on Tuesday. Mr. Justice Martin was the presiding judge at the assize, George A. Morphy prosecuting for the crown. There were originally two cases on the docket, but in the first, Rex v. Hill, an assault case from Ladysmith, the grand jury returned no bill. The second was Rex v. Plump, in which the prisoner was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment and twenty-five lashes, to be administered during the first three months of his imprisonment for assault. The victim identified Plump immediately in the crowded court room, and there was ample evidence against the accused. The prisoner was not defended but endeavored to establish an alibi, a defense which broke down hopelessly.

It came out during the trial that Plump was the same man who in 1900 pleaded guilty to burglarizing the house of Gus Borde in this city, at the same time stabbing Louis Borde in the hand. For this he received a sentence of five years at hard labor. He was also sentenced to two other terms of imprisonment at the same time on charges of theft to which he pleaded guilty, but the terms were allowed to run concurrently.

WILL CELEBRATE HOWE'S BIRTHDAY

Opportunity Will Be Given Maritimers to Meet for Evening

At the meeting of Maritime province "Old Boys" held yesterday afternoon at the office of Fielsterman and company, there was a large and representative attendance of former residents of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, among those present being Rev. Leslie Clay, Beaumont Boggs, A. W. McCurdy, James Forman, C. H. Lugin, Fred Peters, K. C. A. Robertson, Mr. Hart, E. A. Bennet and Archdeacon Pentreath of Vancouver, honorary president of the Vancouver Maritime Province association. It was decided, after much discussion, to hold a re-union in this city on Dec. 12, the anniversary of the birthday of Joseph Howe.

The re-union will take the form of a public meeting in some large hall, when the gathering will be favored with an address by Rev. Leslie Clay on Joseph Howe. A committee consisting of Messrs. Peters, Boggs and Lugin was appointed to look after the arrangements for this meeting. The committee would like to get into touch with any former residents of the Maritime provinces who are now in the city and vicinity, and who would like to be present at this meeting. It is not the intention to form an association, but simply to give an opportunity for former maritime province residents to meet together and become acquainted.

ENDEAVORERS IN QUARTERLY RALLY

Victoria Union Elects Officers and Hears Inspiring Addresses

Victoria union of Christian Endeavorers held its seventh quarterly rally at Emmanuel Baptist church, Spring Ridge, last night, and there was a large turnout of members. The address by Rev. Christopher Burnett and the installation of officers by Rev. LeRoy Dakin, were the principal items on the programme which also contained several instrumental and vocal selections, which were much enjoyed.

On the recommendation of the executive committee, the order of business was changed and the election of officers was made immediately after the opening exercises, the report of the nominating committee appointed by the executive being read, and on motion, adopted. The following officers were elected:

President, Robert Home; Vice-president, A. Arthur Deaville; Treasurer, Mrs. R. A. Ogilvie; Secretary, R. W. Coleman. Rev. E. LeRoy Dakin was called upon to install the officers. In doing so he said:

Dear Friends: You have been greatly honored by your brethren here on night. You have now by vote of the representatives of the various affiliated societies of this union been elected as their officers for the ensuing year. A splendid opportunity of service is presented to you, for in importance the work of winning and inspiring young people for Christ and His service is second to none. Your work, therefore, entails a responsibility proportionate to the opportunity presented, and is not to be undertaken thoughtlessly or assumed lightly, but with all the earnestness of your young manhood and womanhood, and in prayerful dependence upon the Holy Spirit for strength and wisdom. You have not been chosen for honor, but for work. The success of the year's work rests largely with you as leaders. You have been chosen because of our belief in your fitness for, and your devotion to, this particular work. That we may more fully appreciate the significance of our mutual relations in the work of the coming year, you will please give answer to the following questions:

Do you willingly accept the offices to which you have been chosen?

Will you endeavor faithfully to perform all the duties pertaining to these offices?

Do you faithfully promise to resign forthwith if you find that for any reason you are unable to attend to the work of the office which you now assume?

Will you in all things seek only to promote the best interests of the several churches represented by the societies in this union?

(To the representatives.) Do you, the members of the societies of this local union of Christian Endeavorers, acknowledge and receive these brethren as your officers, and do you promise to pray for them and to give them all that honor, encouragement and support in their work to which they are entitled as your representatives?

(The members will answer this question by rising.)

I do now, therefore, declare you to be duly installed in the offices to which you have been chosen.

The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make His face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you; the Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon you and give you peace.

Retiring President Lampshire made some very appropriate remarks calling upon the young people to give the newly elected officers every support.

Mr. Home, the newly elected president, on taking the chair, spoke very earnestly, promising to do all that he could to further the work of the union and urging that each society should help the new executive in his endeavor to forward the work and asked that when called upon to assist that each and all should rally to the standard.

The retiring executive made the following recommendations which were unanimously adopted:

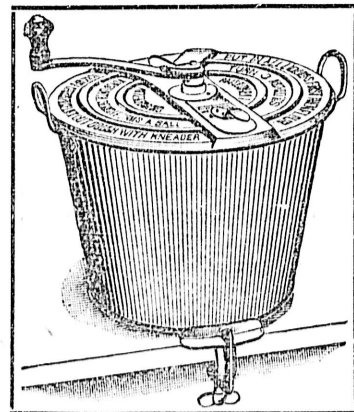

Resolved, that the incoming executive be instructed to draft a new constitution.

Resolved, that the various societies elect a member to represent them on the next executive, said representative to hold office for one year.

Resolved, that the incoming executive appoint an evangelist, a missionary and an organization committee.

After a pleasing service by the centennial Epworth League quartet, Rev. Christopher Burnett of the Central Baptist church gave an instructive and inspiring address on the origin and work of the convention.

McDONALD-MAYNARD

Popular Young Couple to Be Married Early This Morning

A pretty wedding will be solemnized in Christ church cathedral this morning at 7 o'clock, when Constable H. McDonald, of the local police force, will be married to Miss Laura Maynard, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Maynard, Belleville street.

Canon Beaulieu will be the officiating clergyman, while the organist of the church, George Pauline, will preside at the organ. The groom will be supported by his brother, M. McDonald. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be partaken of at the residence of the bride's parents, after which the happy couple will leave on their honeymoon trip for Seattle by the morning boat.

Both the contracting parties are well known and popular in Victoria. Constable McDonald is a valued member of the local police force, and his prospective bride is popular among a large circle of friends. Both the young people have been the recipient of congratulations from their many friends, who sent many valuable wedding gifts as a mark of their esteem. On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald will take up their residence on Bay street.

Public Works

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The department of public works has decided to call for tenders for building a new channel for the entrance to the harbor at Toronto. It will be eighteen feet deep, and will cut right through Hamilton's island. At the request of D. W. Bole, M. P. of Winnipeg, the department will have the improvements to St. Andrew's rapids rushed to completion.

The collapse of the Almsworth and Dunn wharf at Seattle resulted in the death of A. B. Ogile, and injury to seven others on Tuesday. The collapse occurred as a result of the weakening of the piles by teredos.

The Canadian line steamer Altonia reached New York yesterday morning from Mediterranean ports with 2,310 passengers.

CANADIAN IDEALS TO BE FOSTERED

Canadian Club Passes Resolutions Endorsing Action to Fan Patriotic Flame

The second quarterly business luncheon of the Victoria Canadian club took place yesterday at the Poodle Dog cafe. About fifty members of the club were present and a number of matters affecting the interests of the community and the organization were discussed. Over fifty new names were added to the list of members, the applications being passed upon in the ordinary course of business.

Several guests were present amongst others Archdeacon Pentecost of the Vancouver kindred body, who commended the action which the club decided to take upon a number of matters and declared his intention of advocating their adoption by the Vancouver institution.

Perhaps the most important resolution adopted by the club was that advocating the more general display of the Canadian flag to the exclusion of the flags of other nations. The resolution advocates the adoption by the British Columbia government of the rule of action inaugurated by the government of Manitoba in ordering that the Union Jack be flown over all schools receiving government aid.

Favor Flags Over Schools.

The motion which was moved by A. S. Barton and seconded by his honor, Judge Lammiman, was as follows:

Whereas, the purpose of the Canadian club is to foster patriotism;

And, whereas, the display of our national emblem, the Union Jack, is one of the best means towards that end;

And, whereas, the legislatures of the provinces of Manitoba and Ontario have placed upon the statute books an ordinance compelling the display of the national flag on all school houses receiving a government grant throughout the province during each day's session;

Therefore, be it resolved, that this meeting of the Canadian Club of Victoria, B. C., desires to express the opinion that the more general use of the national flag to the exclusion of that of any foreign nation would be in the best interests of Canada, and that the example set by the province of Manitoba and Ontario in this matter might with advantage be copied by the government of British Columbia.

And be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the government of British Columbia.

Supports the Resolutions.

With a newspaper clipping announcing the intention of the Ontario government to follow the lead of Manitoba in this matter as his text, Mr. Barton spoke as follows:

"The foundations have been well and truly laid, shall we not determine that as it is our privilege to commence the superstructure, so it is our duty to see that it too is well and solidly fashioned. Patriotism to us who are of British birth needs not to be questioned. I take it that we are like the man who thought it too much trouble to say his prayers, so he had them printed on a card and hung on the head of his bed and every night before he turned in he would cock his thumbs towards them and ejaculate: 'Them's my sentiments.' That, I conceive, is somewhat like our attitude towards the national flag. It stands for us as a monument of past glories and a symbol of present great and tangible benefits. Therefore, I should not need to speak to you upon this question, provided that Canada was not in the throes of a mighty new birth. Or were they only members of the Anglo-Saxon race who are flocking in ever increasing numbers to this land of promise, this last great west of the North American continent I should not require to speak of it, but as you are all no doubt aware there are others also. A new Tower of Babel is being built in the great country of ours and every foreign tongue is claiming for a share in the work, all imbued alike with the hunger for land and homes and freedom.

Interesting Figures.

Let me briefly give you some figures. In the last ten years there have come into Canada 300,000 souls, of these only 35,000 were British born, the balance, 265,000, are either Americans or people from continental Europe. I may say, according to the authority from which I quote, that a larger proportion of these came from the United States than from Europe. The year ending July 1, saw an influx of over 252,000. Now, continental Europe has a population of 100,000,000 to draw from, the U. S. 80,000,000, whilst the United Kingdom has only 40,000,000. Probably in five, certainly in ten years the foreign born citizens of Western Canada can if they choose take all matters of government into their own hands. That is to say, at the present rate of increase, but can we not rather expect a greater rate of increase as each newcomer wants the praises of this land of liberty and plenty to those whom he has left behind in abject slavery or struggling in helpless misery for the right to live.

"Imagination fails to grasp the possibilities of this great movement.

"Think of it, we have today on the great prairies at least 300,000,000 acres of fertile land, free to the first who comes, capable, so they tell us, of supporting a population of anywhere from 20 to 40 millions. Here in British Columbia you know better than I what population we can absorb and what opportunities there are awaiting the incoming settler.

"A hundred years ago the United States, a country neither richer nor larger than ours, possessed a population about equal to ours today, and now look at them. 80,000,000 odd and growing by millions every year. Is there any reason why Canada should not grow at an equal rate or rather is there not every reason why we should grow at even a more phenomenal rate than that.

Take Lesson From States

"I should be loth to convey the impression that there is any danger in the situation, if handled in a proper manner, and our neighbors to the south have given us a splendid illustration of how it can be done. They have evinced in the minds of their newcomers a spirit of loyalty, somewhat blatant, it is true, but still a loyalty that lasts, to their adopted country and its institutions that might furnish us with an object lesson in this matter. They have succeeded, why should we fail; well, they grasped the situation and pointed out to their newcomers the great and obvious advantages that their country possessed. Cannot we do the same? They enthused over the flag, they still enthused over it as a matter of fact, their flag and no other. Well, we have got a flag, although a stranger coming here might possibly think sometimes that we had more than one. Still we have really only one, we all know that, and it should be good enough to give to these people who have left their behind, good enough to point to with pride and to tell them for what it stands, to point out to them the plain and simple facts regarding it and to offer to them in lieu of their own. Offer it to them with freedom, greater than they can at present grasp, offer it to them with justice, alike to rich and poor and then, whenever the time comes, as come it surely will, when once again the very goes out to the club's club to the uttermost parts of the earth, Canada will not be the last to respond and once more as in the past will freely give of her best for the good of the Empire.

How About the Empire

"But the Empire? What do these people know of empires or kings or governments, do they know any good of them? Of ours? Or is it only the land of their adoption that they can be taught to love? What do they know of the silken chains which bind us fast, the ties of memory and of blood. There is a tie that many of us would fain see forged, the tie of common interests within the Empire itself that would cement the bonds of unity more surely than any other, and for one still hope that I may live to see its fruition.

"But there is one bond which we must not overlook and it is strong and not lightly to be estimated. This is a prosaic age, and here in Canada the works of the great Prophet of old would appear to be more nearly applied than at any other period of the world's history.

Our Defenceless Frontier

"Truly we seem to have beaten our swords into ploughshares whilst our guns are nearly rusting from disuse. Think of it, we have 5,000 miles of frontier, defenceless and unarmed, a country rich beyond the dreams of avarice, with potential possibilities greater than any kingdom in the world. What have other nations ceased to covet broad lands and fertile provinces, have they, too, thrown down their bulwarks and dispersed their engines of war? Or is it true that whilst peace conferences are busy framing Marquis of Queensbury rules ready for the next great conflict and nation still strives with nation for ships and more ships whilst the people groan beneath the burden of taxation, Canada alone pursues her placid progress towards prosperity unimpeded by this horrid incubus. Yes, we know that this is true, and simply because we dwell secure beneath the protecting folds of the British flag. We know that, this privilege, this blessing is ours without money and without price. Some day we may awake to a sense of our duty of our responsibility, but in the meantime, now we can offer the bond of union free gratis for nothing.

Should Appeal to Them

"Is this not a bond that should appeal to them. To awake as from a nightmare of oppression, free people in a free country. Then show them the flag, our flag and no other. Enthuse over it, if not for our sake, for theirs. Teach them its history, the true and simple story of British history, let the children be taught to salute it as it waves over every school-house in our land and then, when the time comes that the children of their hands the duty of continuing our work, they shall be able to feel that as the foundations were well and truly laid, so also is the course which we have been privileged to build."

Resolution Supported

Mr. Barton's remarks were received with great applause. His Honor Judge Lammiman, in seconding the motion referred to the necessity for indicating the spirit of reverence for the flag into the children. C. H. Luggin, who also spoke to the motion, referred to the aspect of the case and emphasized the necessity of teaching loyalty, even if it is necessary to teach reverence for the flag into the children of the United States, in the schools.

Canon Beaudin in expressing his approval of the motion referred to the necessity of reverence for Canadian institutions. He deprecated the burning of the lieutenant-governor of British Columbia in effigy recently in Vancouver. Protest should be made for whom the occupant of the position stands.

Police Uniforms

A report was rendered by E. Napier Denison, as chairman of the committee recently appointed to consider the advisability of advocating the adoption of English instead of United States styles for police uniforms in Canada. It was as follows:

To the President and Members of the Canadian Club of Victoria. Gentlemen,—Your committee appointed to obtain information and consult with the police commissioners of this city with regard to the adoption of a British type of uniform, beg leave to report as follows:

We have communicated with Col. Sherwood, commander of the Dominion police, with Chief of Police Chamberlain of Vancouver, and with other officials in Canadian cities. Col. Sherwood states that he is very much in sympathy with the desire to have a British pattern of uniform for the Victoria police force and reports that his already attired in a uniform very similar to that of the Toronto police force, which is a Canadian adaptation of the Metropolitan police force of London. Chief of Police Chamberlain, of Vancouver, says he has been collecting information and has come to the conclusion that the Metropolitan police uniform is the most suitable for this climate, and with the approval of the commissioners is taking steps to bring about a change.

We had not an opportunity of meeting the Victoria police commissioners, but have interviewed the individual members, and have found their sentiment to be unanimously in favor of adopting the new pattern.

Our opinion, after investigation and comparison, is that the proposed pattern is smarter, more serviceable, and less expensive than the present type, while, above all, it is in harmony with the uniform in general use throughout the Dominion.

We therefore strongly recommend

The report was adopted with enthusiasm.

Hon. D. M. Eberts thereupon moved: "That this club suggest to the Victoria police commission that the next issue of clothing for the local force a pattern of similar type to that recommended by the special committee of the club to be adopted, also resolved that the Canadian clubs in the other cities be communicated with and urged to take similar action when necessary."

In doing so, Mr. Eberts referred to the necessity of making even little things conform to British customs rather than to foreign. The motion was seconded by J. Peirson and was carried.

Club Privileges

John Nelson thereupon moved: "That at all luncheons of the club members of similar organizations throughout Canada be entitled to the privileges of the local organization upon presenting their certificate of membership, that the secretary be instructed to communicate with the secretaries of the other Canadian clubs with a view to obtaining similar recognition for members of the Victoria club."

Seconded by A. J. Brace, the motion carried.

ACCIDENT TO A TORONTO BUILDER

John Felstead, a builder, of 312 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, was working on a temporary scaffold, the plank broke and he fell three feet, a bruised knee, and a thorough shaking. Zambuk, the herbal balm, was applied to the cuts and gave him great relief. He says:

"Zambuk was so effective that although my leg was badly cut, I was able to go on without a day's break from work. Zambuk takes the soreness out of a wound at once and then it commences to heal. It is without doubt a wonderful balm for skin injuries, and I am glad to make this virtue known."

THE FLAG IN THE SCHOOLS

The action of the Canadian Club in urging upon the provincial government the desirability of providing for the display of the Union Jack in the schools will, we are satisfied, commend itself to the very great majority of the people. Mr. Barton has stated the case so admirably in the speech made in moving the resolution, which will be found in another column, that it is hardly necessary to add anything to what he said, but we may express the thought that it is by the advocacy of things along this line that the Canadian Clubs justify their existence. In Canada we are confronted with two considerations—we do not care to use the word dangers. One of these arises from the increasing number of aliens, who are coming into the country, and the other, which is the more formidable because the more insidious, from the inculcation of principles hostile to the institutions of the country. There is a new cult abroad, which, nourished in the shelter of our institutions, aims at destroying them. This had found expression in opposition to the claim that all men ought to feel the obligation to go to the defence of their country in the hour of peril, that national defence is a part of some imagined conspiracy on the part of capitalists, that the first duty of men is to some particular organization with which they are associated. These ideas have not yet made much progress, and they would have made less if it had been made a part of the education of every boy and girl that they should understand what British institutions are and what they represent. Ideas, which had their birth under the despotisms of Continental Europe, are being advocated as though they were applicable to a people who have been free for centuries, and the very foundation of whose institutions is the liberty of the individual and his right to a voice in the control of the government. Propositions are laid down by the disciples of a certain party, as though they were new discoveries, whereas in point of fact they are the fundamental principles of the Common Law of England. It is the duty of our schools to demonstrate that within the four corners of the British Constitution there is protection for personal liberty in the fullest sense. Boys and girls ought to be taught, not simply that the flag is a piece of bunting that "for a thousand years has braved the battle and the breeze," but that it stands for the best exemplification of human liberty that the world in all its history has yet evolved.

FRENCH-CANADIAN "LOYALTY."

The special correspondent of the London Morning Post, who recently visited Canada, has made a strenuous and fairly successful effort to look at questions from a broad point of view; nevertheless he lapses occasionally into an insularity, and speaks not only as if the United Kingdom were the pivotal point in the Empire, but as if all things must be judged by their relation to that part of His Majesty's dominions. This is chiefly manifest in his discussion of the question, "Why is he loyal," as applied to the French-Canadian. He seems to think that this loyalty is something due to the United Kingdom, and that the proper people to judge of its quality are people from England. We have seen an interview with Mr. Rudyard Kipling in which that distinguished exponent of Imperia, thought protested against the use of the term "loyalty" as expressive of the relation between the several parts of the Empire. The word implies, as it is commonly used, a sense of dependence, and this is not the attitude of Britons beyond Seas towards the Mother Country. Whether we are doing all that we ought towards the maintenance of the integrity of the Empire, and its prestige as a world-power, is a matter that may be discussed at another time. At present we have to do only with the French element of the Canadian population. To whom or what are the French-Canadians expected to be loyal? To the King certainly as the head of the nation, not as the head of the United Kingdom, but of all countries over which the British flag flies. This is not necessarily a personal loyalty, for it would be absurd to suggest that the Canadian habitants feel a sense of personal devotion to the man, Edward VII., but for the King, as representative of security in the enjoyment of what they hold most dear, they undoubtedly feel what, for want of a better word, may be called loyalty; that is, they would feel it if they ever took the trouble to analyze their sentiments on the subject which they probably do not any more frequently or thoroughly than the Yorkshire man or the Devonshire man examines his on the same subject. They accept existing conditions as settled and have no desire to change them, and substantially this is about all loyalty!

amounts to nowadays anywhere, if we couple with it a determination to make sacrifices for the maintenance of those conditions. This may shock some people, but it is what British loyalty has been in the last analysis ever since Magna Charta was signed, and British freedom was shown to be superior to the power of the Crown. Loyalty and patriotism, though often confounded, are not identical. John Hampden was a patriot, but he was not loyal. Strafford was loyal, but he was not patriotic.

The distinguishing characteristic of the French-Canadians may be best described as patriotism, and it is largely local. It is to Quebec first, and to Canada because Quebec is a part of Canada. Probably in the case of the great majority of them, the feeling does not extend far enough to embrace the British Empire because Canada is a part of it. Our French compatriots are in a special sense the children of the soil, even more so that the descendants of the United Empire Loyalists, for although many of the latter are sprung from families, which have been in America for centuries, the very great majority of them have in their veins something of the blood of more recent comers from the United Kingdom. In regard to the people of Quebec the facts are different. The influx of new blood from old France during the last two centuries has been a negligible quantity. A race of people who for two hundred years and upwards have lived in any land may be expected to look upon that land with sentiments different from those which they entertain for any other. The tie of race with France is no greater than were the ties of race between the followers of William the Conqueror and France in the reign of Henry III., and doubtless not so great, because there was constant intercourse between France and England during the intervening centuries, but this intimacy did not prevent the development of a patriotism, which was as strong in the breasts of the descendants of the Normans as in those of the men, who traced their lineage to the Saxons, or even to their predecessors. That the patriotism of the people of Quebec finds its first, and perhaps its strongest, expression in the feeling of the people towards their own province and its special institutions, so far from being a matter of surprise, is really the most natural thing, and those who look for anything else, expect what, if it existed, would be without parallel anywhere in the world. French-Canadians are loyal for the same reason that any one else is loyal, namely, because the government under which they live is the symbol and protection of all that they most highly esteem. It is this that really inspires the sentiments of even the most perfervid patriots in any land.

GOLDSTREAM WATERSHED

The Times asks us if we are still of the opinion that the capacity of the Goldstream watershed is equal to 25,000,000 gallons of water per diem. In reply we have to say that we are. We never have contended that the storage capacity of the existing reservoirs was equal to such a drain, but only that the rainfall upon the watershed, which can be stored, would supply such an amount of water. Our contemporary is quite correct in saying that a measure of capacity of any watershed is the minimum supply; but it fails to distinguish between the maximum capacity of certain reservoirs and the maximum capacity of a watershed. All the water, which fall upon the Goldstream watershed, is not collected in the reservoirs of the company. Our information is that a very much larger amount can be collected. The experience of the present year is of great value. We can hardly expect ever to have a drier season; yet we know that within the past twelve months millions upon millions of gallons of water, that fell upon the Goldstream watershed, have gone to waste, because there was no means of saving it, the company believing that its reservoirs would prove sufficient to supply what the Tramway company needed. Under normal conditions the supply would have been ample, but the conditions have not been normal. We maintain that the Goldstream watershed is the best source of supply for water for the city for the following reasons:

It is nearer the city than any of the proposed new sources of supply, except perhaps the Highlands.

The minimum precipitation during any year is ample to furnish the city with at least 25,000,000 gallons daily.

The watershed is exceptionally free from contamination.

The source of supply is ample for all municipal purposes.

The reservoirs are so located and any new reservoirs can be so located that the water can be aerated before it enters the supply pipe.

We say nothing on the score of price. Upon that point we await further information.

Think of it—strawberries, pumpkin, squash, cucumber, citron and potatoes successfully grown four hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton! We are yet ignorant of the size of Canada, that is, in respect to its habitable area.

The correspondents robu that in escaping from a hotel fire in Manitoba, Mr. Bergeron saved his comb. If this is the weapon which he has used in combing down his political adversaries, we can imagine that our Liberal friends will wish that he had lost it.

The very gratifying announcement is made in Vancouver that there will be no general shut-down of the coast lumber mills this winter, save for the annual repairs. Contrary to expectations, the demand from the Northwest still remains steady, and increased business is expected in the spring.

Mr. Herbert Cuthbert has resigned his position as secretary of the Tourist Association. Mr. Cuthbert has done excellent work, and it will be very difficult to secure a man to take his place. He has qualities which peculiarly fitted him for the duties attaching to his position.

It is rather late in the day to discuss with the Times whether or not Alexander Mackenzie's plan for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway was a good one. The country disposed of that matter nearly thirty years ago. Mr. Mackenzie was a very excellent man, but he had even less enthusiasm for anything than our esteemed evening contemporary.

The very extraordinary spring, summer and autumn have produced a condition of things that no one ever anticipated. We are, none of us, much surprised that we should have little or no rain in Victoria, but that the highlands between Goldstream and Sooke lake would not attract rain clouds is something quite unexpected. The year has been remarkable. At present in Australia, and parts of India, there is serious drought. In Europe and Eastern America there has been more rain than usual. Here on Vancouver Island we have had all kinds of weather.

Apologies of the repulse of the French forces by the Moors at Casablanca, it may be mentioned that the European press is almost unanimous in declaring General Druide an incompetent. On the other hand, General Druide blames Clemenceau, and declares that the force at his disposal has been absolutely insufficient. He threatens some startling disclosures as to the efficiency of the French army at the close of the campaign. One of the most astounding things to the Man in the Street is that a first-class power, when it sets out to discipline an uncivilized race, should make the mistake of sending an insufficient force. France is likely to suffer a considerable loss of prestige over the Moroccan trouble.

Canadian printers have just experienced a rude shock. For years they have been contributing to a common international fund for the maintenance of the Home at Colorado Springs. Now they find that their members are debarred from taking advantage of the privileges of the Home, a law having gone into effect in the United States on July 1, prohibiting the entrance of all people unfit to make a living through sickness or other cause. A gross injustice is thus done the great body of Canadian printers, but we confess we are not surprised at it. There is talk of establishing a home in Canada. The sooner it is done the better. In most matters we are absolutely independent of the United States. That country ought not to be permitted to have any "strings" on us in anything.

That Young Lochinvar of Finance, who came out of the West, to wit, P. Aug. Heinze, seems to have landed in a pretty bad muddle in New York. Heinze is a financial pirate. His energy is phenomenal, his pluck sublime; his scruples rudimentary. He had better go back to Montana. It is safer buying judges in that State than stocks in Wall street. A story illustrative of his ideas of doing business is current. He came to Victoria seeking some legislation, which he secured without difficulty. After his work was done he gave a dinner to some prominent gentlemen, which caused a good deal of talk here at the time. This is how Heinze talked about it himself: "Say, those British Columbia people are easy marks. I went down to Victoria after some legislation and I was prepared to pay well for it. It never cost me a cent. I gave a dinner after it was all over that stood me $150; but I won that amount the same night from — at poker."

All comments upon the financial situation in New York must of necessity be little else than guess work, but probably, if the truth could be got at, the cause of the collapse would be found to be the distrust of the public for Wall street and its methods. This was started by Mr. Thomas W. Lawson in his remarkable series of papers in Everybody's. However much Mr. Lawson himself may have been discredited by subsequent events, he undoubtedly aroused the suspicions of the people. Close upon the heels of his propaganda came the action of President Roosevelt, which not only alarmed small investors at home, but made foreign investors desirous to get rid of United States securities. The habit is to talk of big financiers and their money, but most of the money, with which the "big" people juggle, belongs to the small investors. The crowd which stood in line of waiting for their deposits at the Knickerbocker Trust Company's office, were not the great lights of the money market. They were the men of moderate means. There are just as many $20 gold pieces in the United States today as there were six months ago, and probably more. But the men who gamble in stocks and who fight for the control of railways do not happen to be able to get their hands upon them. Of course the situation will soon right itself, but when, and who will suffer in the meantime is beyond present guessing.

Canada the Nation

A. J. Dawson in London Standard

Article II.

Among men and women of this generation—even among those of them whose personal interest embraces no portion of the Empire which is further overseas than the Isle of Wight—one does not hear Canada spoken of as a colony, or Canadians referred to as colonials. That name, colonial, is one which thousands of fine citizens of the Empire are naturally and rightly proud to bear. But we have ceased to apply it to Canadians, and we do not make the mistake of calling their magnificent country a colony.

There is a reason for this, as for most things, and in this case it must be a tolerably weighty one, for in all such matters there are no other people in the world more slow to change than the people of the United Kingdom. As to the exact nature of the reason, a visit to Canada leaves one quite free from doubt. The reason is that Canada and the Canadians are already a nation. It may well be that their destiny is that of one of the greatest of nations. Seen in the very strongly suggests this. But the immediate point is that Canada and the Canadians are a nation now. This fact is borne upon every intelligent person who visits the Dominion, and the conscious recognition of such people becomes the sub-conscious knowledge of the general public.

Bank deposits in Canada have trebled in the last ten years, and doubled in the last four years. Canada's savings, per head of the population, are larger than those of any other country in the world. Canada has an unbroken wheat field, a mile long by 300 miles wide; the largest in the world. Canada has the biggest and most prolific sea fisheries in the world, besides some of the greatest salmon rivers. Canada has the largest grain mill in the British Empire, and the biggest grain elevator in the world. The Dominion has one of the richest gold fields in the world, the largest nickel mine in the world, and the thickest known coal seam in the world. During every eight months a considerably larger tonnage of shipping passes through Canada's Sault canals than passes during a year through the Suez Canal. The population of Canada has not quite doubled yet, since Confederation; its revenue has been multiplied by six during the same time. More than 85 per cent. of Canada still awaits cultivation; more than 85 per cent. of Canada lies to the west and north of the older and settled provinces of the Atlantic. Yet, during last year, Canada produced over 363 million bushels of grain. Eighty-seven per cent. of Canada's farmers own their farms.

Englishmen Slow to Learn

In the past, we, as a people, have been more apt than most peoples to suffer from the effects of various developments in the world's history, simply and solely because we have refused to take any account of those developments or to make any allowance for them, until they were actually accomplished. We have never taken any stock of the writing on the wall; we have waited for the event itself; and then, being unprepared for it, we have lost heavily (else would the whole of North America, instead of only its biggest half, be part of the British Empire today), or succeeded only in "muddling through." The progress of modern civilization, the progress or exact science, and the increase of competition combine to make the latter process more and more risky, more and more hazardous and difficult, every year.

Canada's complete accomplishment, Canada's realization of her own nationhood, is, and is to be, one of the most important episodes in the twentieth century world's history. The more consideration it receives in these early days, the better for all concerned; and no other people outside Canada itself are quite so intimately concerned as are the people of Great Britain. One must give an eye to the future, as well as to the past and the present, to realize fully just how closely and intimately we are concerned, here in Great Britain; how vital and important a bearing this development has upon our own future, our own national life. In this case, any writing on the wall which may be legible and there has been a good deal of it since the beginning of the era of Canada's great progress and prosperity under the "National Policy" of self-help, self-protection, and the extension of preference to kinsmen) should be particularly well worth England's attention.

What is the present position of this lusty, uprising new nation, with regard to us, with regard to Great Britain?

In the first place, it falls to be said that life in large young countries, great nations in the making, differs notably in its essentials from life in smaller, densely populated, long-matured lands of the Old World. It is less complex, more vigorously active, and in most respects simpler. All the realities of life, of action, and of purpose are nearer to the men of the new lands than they are to the people of the old countries. The connection between the quite average citizen of Canada, the working man citizen, for example, and the progress and development of Canada, is a thing much closer and more intimate and real to him, than national progress is to the average citizen of England.

Citizens' Interest in Nation

For one thing, the development of Canada is tangible and visible to the meaneast intelligence. Again, it is so rapid that the quite average citizen is able to see the effect upon it of his own year's work almost in his own day's work. It is not a matter of Blue-books and statistics merely (though these have so real an appeal to the Canadian that the man who cuts your hair can give you last month's official figures about most matters connected with his country's growth), but of interest as personal and intimate to the average citizen as the rise or fall of his weekly earnings is to the working man at home.

In addition to all this, one has the sad fact to remember that in our own country there are said to be people representing a third of our entire population so situated that active interest in national affairs is practically impossible for them. The noblest minded man or woman must needs be in a position decently removed from the sheer edge of hunger before his or her mind can occupy itself continuously with

AND now the dear old book will have its innings. The magazines, with their delightfully light stories, had the field pretty much to themselves during the summer time, but not so now. You'll have more time for "heavier" sorts now, and you and your good old book shall be "palls" many winter nights.

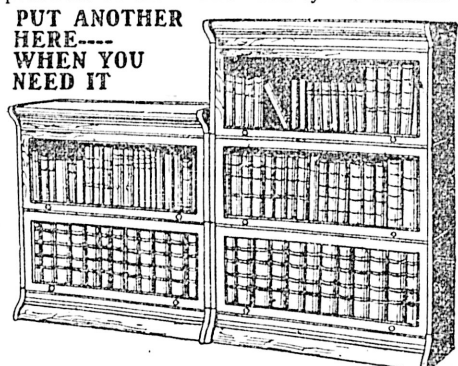

But where are you going to keep them? Got a place to put it, a safe place, a place where you'll find it when you want it and in its "entirety"? Perhaps your stock of Books doesn't warrant the purchasing of the ordinary Bookshelf. You don't want a lot of empty shelves staring at you. Then, get a Macey Sectional. Get one section and let the case grow, as your library grows. You'll bless the convenience a thousand times, if you try it.

We have experimented with several makes of sectional bookcases and have adopted the "Macey" as being the best and most practical of all. The "Macey" is valuable and appropriate in the smallest as well as in the largest library. It is highly ornamental in any well furnished room, and far more imposing in design than the average ordinary bookcase. There is absolutely no waste space. Absolutely dust proof.

We stock many different sized sections, so that you can get one to fit your books. We have two styles of finish, Medium Antique Oak and Early English Quartered Oak, and we can start you with a bookcase of this superior sort for $8.50.

You can add to it gradually as your library grows. It means no large unnecessary outlay of cash in the first instance.

New Shipment of Adjustable Tables

THE "SIDWAY"—A TABLE OF MANY USES—GET ONE NOW

The Sidway Adjustable Table, because of its adaptability to so many uses, the ease with which it is adjusted, moved or put out of the way, has become a necessary article of home furniture, for which there is no substitute.

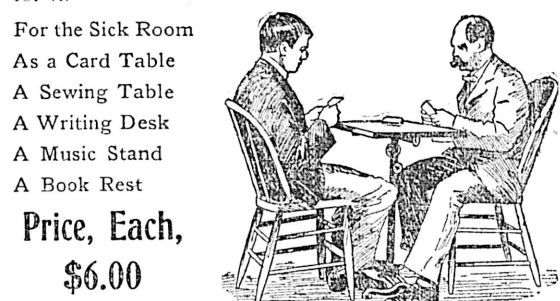

It is strong, handsome and costs little, and has been so perfected in construction that we may fairly claim it to be the best table of its class on the market.

To comfortably serve a meal to one in bed, is a problem which at some time has to be considered in every home, and but few homes are provided with suitable tables with which this can be done. The Sidway is perfectly adapted for this purpose. The top projects over the bed without touching it, and may be adjusted to any convenient height.

When not in use the table can be made to occupy less than four inches of floor space, by setting perpendicularly, and at right angles to the feet, and shoving the front feet under head or foot of couch or bed.

It is a table of many uses, and you often have a use for it.

SURVEYORS HAVE MANY HARDSHIPS

Party Returns From Summer Spent Marking Boundary in North

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—Climbing over slippery glaciers, triangulating vast distances from peak to peak, and climbing mountain summits frequently over eight thousand feet above sea level, were some of the tasks performed this summer by a Canadian survey party engaged in delimiting the boundary line between the United States and the Dominion, under the terms of the London, Eng., arbitration award.

Severe hardships proved to be the lot of the fifteen men who reached here last night from the Prince Rupert from Fort Wrangel. Mr. Wm. F. Ratz of the Interior Department, Ottawa, had charge of the party. This was his third season in the country north of the Portland Canal, probably the roughest and most inaccessible region along the frontier, extending north to the Arctic ocean.

"Our duties in delimiting the boundary involved a great deal of exploratory work, topographical delineation and instrumental surveys," said Mr. Ratz at the Hotel Vancouver today. "A system of camera surveys was also utilized. Our photos in the Sitkine river region alone represents over 1000 square miles of topography. We also did a good deal of work on the Taku and Whiting rivers. For instance, in those localities we surveyed the line and planted a series of bronze monuments, about a mile apart. The line is now plainly visible as the brush and trees along its route were cut down and removed. Especial care was taken at the points where the line crosses the rivers.

"No effort was made to plant monuments for a fifty-mile section where the boundary in a general way follows the course of the Sitkine river. The best we could do was to climb scores of peaks, give them names and triangulate with our instruments. The camera process of surveying also proved a valuable adjunct. Our labors were very severe.

"For fifty miles there is an unbroken stretch of glaciers and mountain peaks, many of them over 9000 feet high. In order to determine the frontier many of these lofty summits had to be surmounted. Order came out of chaos for while there will be no monuments along the line, the official maps when accepted by both Governments will indicate the precise location of the boundary. For practical purposes the information will not prove valuable unless miners should be discovered near the frontier.

"As all the peaks have been given names, and as they comprise the landmarks of the frontier, no disputes are likely to arise. Of course, we exercised care in erecting monuments in the valleys of the three rivers, where we were engaged. The line in the region I indicated is very sinuous. The diplomats in London simply indicated it by drawing pencil marks from peak to peak, of the few big summits marked in the incomplete map used at the arbitration. Several hundred photos were taken.

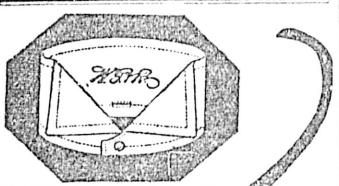

"Each government had three parties in the field this year. By mutual agreement each agreed to undertake the work in certain localities, and in order to check up the survey each party had a representative of the other government along. Mr. R. Hornum was the representative of the United States in my survey party; likewise, Canada had an engineer with each of the American survey parties. The survey work this year also embraced the establishment of the 149th parallel north of Mount St. Elias, and extending thence to the Arctic, I believe one or two more seasons will see the entire survey completed."

Mr. Embleton Retires

Rossland, B. C., Oct. 23.—Thomas Embleton, who has been engaged in the grocery business for the past eleven years in this city, has disposed of his stock to the other merchants of the city, and today will retire from business. Mr. Embleton, as the grand master of the Odd Fellows of the province, has considerable official business to transact for the order. He will in turn visit East Kootenay, the Shocan and the Boundary, and this will occupy his time for the next three weeks. After this he will decide what business he will follow. Mr. Embleton, during his long residence in the city, has been a model citizen. He has made a large number of friends in business, fraternal and political circles, who will regret to see him getting out of the business life of the city.

Kaslo, B.C., Oct. 23.—There will be a change made shortly in the transfer of mails on the Kaslo-Nelson lake route. It is reported that the present contract will be annulled and a new one entered upon with the K. R. & N. Co., and C.P.R. It is understood that on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, the mails will be carried by the C.P.R., and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday by the K. R. & N. Co. This will give Sandom a daily mail service, as on days the C.P.R. does not make connections with K. & S. Inspector Greenfield, of Vancouver, was looking over the situation last week, and it is thought that the foregoing arrangement will be the outcome of his visit.

COPPER FIND IN FRANKLIN

Old Prospectors and Miners Astonished at the Phenomenal Showing

Grand Forks, Oct. 23.—From the reports that have reached here today all former strikes and rich finds of high-grade ore in Franklin camp are far surpassed by a most phenomenal strike of high-grade copper ore that has just been discovered on the Leader group, consisting of the Leader, Edna and Yellow Girl claims. It seems that right on the side of a natural bluff this high-grade ore is exposed in a well defined lead, fully four feet wide, lying in a formation of granite, the ore being found in magnetite form. This ore is in appearance identical with that of the Maple Leaf and a recent surface assay shows its value to be $38.72 per ton in gold, silver and copper. Already fully two carloads of this ore has been taken out and is piled up on the dump ready for shipment.

Old prospectors and mining men are practically dumbfounded at this marvelous showing which has every appearance of permanency, as the lead stands nearly perpendicular as it goes down. This valuable group of claims is owned by Leo Mader and Eurt Carroll. Mr. Mader owning an all interest in the Edna and Yellow Girl and a half interest in the Leader claim.

A most novel feature about this strike is that L. Mader, the principal owner of this valuable group, is really one of the very youngest prospectors in the district, being a mere lad without any mining experience to speak of and he is now possessed of a property which is already valued at several thousands of dollars. This group is situated just a mile east of the Franklin Hotel in Franklin City.

New Spur Line

Greenwood, B. C., Oct. 23.—It is stated on good authority that a standard gauge spur will be built from Toronto Creek to the Barton mineral claim, situated a short distance south of Ferry on the opposite side of the river. The spur will be built by the Mountain View Mining Company, which has a bond on the property. Considerable development work has already been done, with highly satisfactory results. Mr. Sneed, of Bodie, is the moving spirit in the undertaking, and has interested New York capital in the property.

Honor Discovery of Fraser

New Westminster, Oct. 23.—The proposed celebration in this city next year in honor of the centennial anniversary of the discovery of the Fraser river and the semi-centennial anniversary of the founding of the city of New Westminster is fast becoming an absorbing topic of conversation, and the movement is making many warm friends.

It is expected that Mayor Kearny will give the matter official attention in the near future and that he will bring it before the city council for an expression of opinion. Should that body endorse it, preparations will be commenced at once for the holding of the celebration under the auspices of the city.

However, it is expected that the citizens will assist the movement greatly and a public meeting would be called early in the new year. If not before Christmas, for the purpose of appointing committees and the commencing of arrangements for the festivities.

Many prominent citizens have expressed their hearty approval of the proposed celebration in honor of the important anniversaries since the matter was proposed in these columns for the first time over a month ago.

New Westminster Fair

New Westminster, Oct. 23.—Although no statement of the finances of the provincial exhibition has been issued, it is known that the big show was a success and that there will be a balance on the right side of the ledger but just what the amount is will not be given out at present.

Manager Kearny, in speaking to The Province, stated that the attendance was well up to expectations, and that there was no reason to complain. The official figures of the registered attendance at the fair have just been made out and were given to The Province by Manager Kearny and show that the many guesses made by persons during the week were far too large.

The figures are: Sept. 28, 2,229; Oct. 1, 7,058; Oct. 2, 10,091; Oct. 3, 11,618; Oct. 4, 15,066; Oct. 5, 14,975; total for the six days, 60,887; which is a record, with the exception of the Dominion exhibition in 1906.

RUSHING SURVEY TO PRINCETON

C.P.R. Will at Once Extend Nicola Branch to Okanagan Lake

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 23.—A C. P. R. engineering party has been in the field for several weeks engaged in a survey of the proposed extension of the Nicola branch to Princeton, in the Shillikameen district, a distance of seventy-two miles. During his recent visit here President Shillikameen, in an interview with The Province, commented himself with briefly announcing that the railway would be built "farther south," without indicating the destination.

The surveyors are in charge of Mr. Carey and have already run a preliminary line between Quilchess and Aspen Grove. From Princeton the line will later be extended east to Summerland on Okanagan lake, and thence down its west shore to Okanagan at its lower end. Thence the route will be over the divide into the valley of the west fork of Kettle river and on to a junction with the Columbia & Western branch of the C. P. R. at Midway in the Boundary district. When completed this line will give the Kootenays direct communication with the coast.

Mr. Carey last week drove over a portion of the proposed route between Princeton and Summerland, a distance of forty miles. The lateness of the season when the engineers entered the field would indicate that the C. P. R. is in a hurry to undertake construction, in order to anticipate the efforts of the Great Northern to be the first road to operate trains direct between Vancouver and the Boundary district.

The surveys via the west fork is regarded as showing that the C. P. R. will not build from Princeton to the vicinity of Anarchist mountain. The route via the west fork is easier of construction as no great elevations will have to be overcome.

POLICE HAVE LIVELY TIME WITH SIWASHES

New Westminster Officers Have Lively Time in Putting End to Brawl

New Westminster, B. C., Oct. 23.—Chief McIntosh and Detective Bradshaw had a busy half hour Monday night after the council meeting broke up. Following their usual custom, the two officers took a stroll around the outskirts of the town and while down in the west end, surprised several Klotoches and Siwashes holding high carnival, several bottles of fire water playing a conspicuous part in the deliberations. As the night was dark, there was considerable scuffling around the bar, and in the confusion, before the officers finally grabbed one of the men, they handcuffed and placed in a hired rig, leaving instructions with the driver to hold him down while they made another search after more game, arriving back with another buck and kloche. In the last stages of intoxication, but only to be expected, the meantime the driver had allowed the handcuffed man to saunter off. Determined not to take any more chances, the officers drove their charges to the station, depositing them in the cooler and returned to institute a search for the one who had loped off with the chief's bracelets. Before long he was discovered, but some kind friend armed with a strong file had severed the steel chain which held the man's hands together, the bracelets, however, remaining on each wrist. He was also relegated to the lock-up and the broken handcuffs removed.

"Price of the Siwashes paid the sum of $5 each yesterday morning, while the dusky one who got away with the bracelets also contributed a river plus $2, which latter sum will go towards having the chief's handcuffs put in working order."

More Steamers Needed

New Westminster, Oct. 23.—The freight traffic on the Fraser river is fast becoming a serious problem to the transportation companies, which operate steamers, and on nearly every recent trip of the boats consignments of fruit and produce have had to be left behind while the vessels have not time to even call at many of the smaller landings for shipments.

Farmers and dealers along the river are complaining of the long delays caused and are in hopes that either the vessels now on the run will soon catch up with the traffic or that one or two more vessels will be placed on the river to carry the extra freight offering.

WHO USES HYOMEL?

The Best People in Victoria Say D. E. Campbell, Guaranteed in Catarrhal Troubles

No other remedy or treatment for catarrh has ever been as popular or made so many remarkable cures in Victoria as Hyomel.

The best people attest its curative virtues, says D. E. Campbell, who has been the local agent for the fair way in which Hyomel was sold, to refund the money unless it gave satisfaction, was the best proof when it was introduced that it possessed unusual curative powers. D. E. Campbell took all the risk of the treatment giving satisfaction, and left it to the purchasers to be the judge.

Later, when Hyomel was used, and recommended by our well-known physicians and business men and their wives as a treatment that absolutely cured catarrh, no matter how serious or long standing, the sales rapidly grew and today there is no other remedy in D. E. Campbell's stock that has such a large and staple sale.

The first breath of Hyomel's healing air kills all catarrhal poison.

Try Hyomel today on D. E. Campbell's offer to refund the money if the treatment does not give you satisfaction.

valley and the great increase in population during the past few years is believed to be responsible for the greatly increased business. There are no more vessels on the river now than there have been for years.

Horse Is Stolen

Greenwood, B. C., Oct. 23.—What appears to have been a bold case of horse stealing occurred in town recently, where a mare belonging to A. Restell, who was in J. H. Harrison's office, was stolen. Mr. Restell tethered the animal at the rear of the building, and during his fifteen minutes' absence the animal disappeared, together with saddle and bridle, and no trace of it can be found so far.

Belligerent Aldermen

Brandon, Oct. 23.—The long drawn out struggle in the city council with regard to what should be charged last night, when the rate was fixed at 7 cents per thousand gallons up to 150,000 gallons per day, and any in excess of that amount will be charged at 6 1/2 cents per thousand gallons. The argument lasted four hours, and was of the warmest description. More than one alderman challenged another to step outside and engage in a fist encounter.

Wolves Plentiful.

Wolves have been seen in considerable numbers in the neighborhood of Sooke Lake, according to D. Dayerell, who with his brother, have been prospecting in that district. The wolves are daring and while one of the brothers was away from the camp getting supplies a small terrier belonging to him was seized within a few feet of where the other Dayerell was working around the camp. A couple of shots drove off the wolves, but the whole pack continued around the camp for several hours, and only retired when the other brothers returned and drove them away by several shots from his rifle.

HERBERT CUTHBERT RESIGNS POSITION

Secretary of Tourist Association Severs His Connection With That Body

Herbert Cuthbert has resigned his position as secretary of the Victoria Tourist and Development association.
The resignation was received at a meeting of the executive yesterday and accepted. No successor will be appointed until the annual meeting which takes place the third week in January, although Mr. Cuthbert's resignation takes effect at the end of the present month.

Mr. Cuthbert states that he will enter the real estate business. So confident is he of a great influx of people from the prairies and the east generally which will be attended with a consequent activity in real estate that he has formally severed his connection with the local organization, that he may be free to share in the harvest which he is certain will be reaped by property holders generally.

Mr. Cuthbert stated that he has had several offers but that he was not prepared to say with whom he would be associated.

The resignation of Mr. Cuthbert came as a surprise to all the members of the executive of the Tourist association. It was accepted with regret.
In the six years during which he has been associated with that institution,
Mr. Cuthbert has displayed a most active interest in his task, that of furthering the development of the advantages which Victoria presents.

Commenting on his resignation Mr.
Cuthbert stated that he felt deeply pained at the action which he felt compelled to take. He believed, however, that he owed it to himself and his children to take advantage of the rich harvest which he believed awaited those in the real estate business upon Vancouver Island. There were those who were sceptical as to this and who believed that the general tightness of money would result to the detriment of the dealers here and elsewhere.
Personally, he did not believe this to be the case and he had shown his faith
in his belief by his resignation.

"I know for a fact of 4,000 reservations upon the railways during one month made by people bound for Victoria," Mr. Cuthbert continued. "I am firmly convinced that there will be a vast development upon Vancouver Island especially in the centre. I believe that the same activity is going to take place upon Vancouver Island as did in the west some years ago. I believe, moreover, that this is more true of Alberni than of almost any other part of British Columbia. If I had not firm grounds for my belief I would not have resigned. I expect to devote a good deal of time to the organization of development companies and to subdivisions of property here
and elsewhere on the island."

Mr. Cuthbert stated that he would be away a good deal of the time between now and Christmas but that he would be as active in the service of the Tourist association and the city
as if he were still the paid secretary of the former.

Between now and the third week in January he will prepare the annual report, and statements and will gather in the money which the society has due.

At the meeting of the Tourist executive there were present: Mayor Morley, Ald. Vincent J. Arbutnot, A.
W. McCurdy, Sam Sea, Jr., J. H. Lawson, Jr., H. Kent, John Nelson and F.
Pauline.

NO PROSECUTION AS BULL SETTLES

Man Arrested at Seattle and Wanted Here Fixes
Matters Up

There will be no criminal proceedings taken against Hossia A. Bull, who was arrested last Sunday at Seattle
on the request of the Victoria police,
and after whom Detective Perdue went to Seattle on Monday. George Meyers, the man who alleged that Bull had appropriated about $1,000 of his moneys, also went to Seattle, and after a consultation with Bull the latter agreed to settle the amount claimed by Meyers. This being done there was no further call for police intervention,
and Detective Perdue returned without his man.

Meyers claimed that Bull and he were partners in a logging and timber claims, Meyers doing the logging and Bull disposing of the property. Some time ago claims to the value of $12,000
were sold by Bull to John Arbutnot.
The money was received by Bull, who turned some of it over to his partner, but Meyers claimed there was still $4,000 owing to him. Bull, it is alleged, agreed to be in Victoria last Saturday and settle up accounts, but instead he left for Seattle with his wife. Meyers got legal advice, which resulted in a warrant being sworn out here, and given to the police to execute.
When it was found that Bull had left for Seattle the police of that city were notified, and Bull was soon under arrest. Now that he has settled with Meyers the latter has no desire to go ahead with the case.

MINES NOT OPERATING

Depression in Copper Market Causes Shut-Down of Britannia Group

Owing to the depression in the Copper market operations at the Britannia mines on Howe Sound, have been practically suspended. E. B. Scheley, of New York, who is interested in the mines and also in the smelter at Crofton, is a visitor in the city and will leave for Crofton today. He says that the company has a gang of men driving tunnels and blocking out ore so as to be ready for their resumption of active operations.

As a result of the unusually dry season and the consequent failure of the water supply no work is being done at the Crofton smelter. Steps will probably be taken to improve the water supply. A considerable supply of ore is on the dump.

CONSTABLE CARTER OFF TO QUATSINO

Will Make Thorough Investigation Into Death of John Sharp

Constable Carter, of the provincial police department, left last evening on the steamer Venture, for Quatsino, to make a thorough investigation into the death of the man John Sharp, who claimed to be "Bill" Quantrell, the famous Confederate guerilla leader. At present no reliable information has been received regarding the affair
though the supposition is that Sharp was injured in a fight with a half-breed
who was staying at Sharpe's cottage at Coal Harbor, near the head of Quatsino sound. Constable Carter will take any steps necessary if it is found that the deceased met with foul play.

Sharp is supposed to have been a very hard drinker and it is very likely that death may have been due to over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages just as much as anything else. The matter is to be looked into very carefully however by the authorities.

Constable Sorenson of Quatsino has made a report to Superintendent Howsey of the provincial police regarding the death of Sharp, but he has not made it very clear as to his opinion in the matter. He stated that he had visited Sharp some time before his death and found him quite ill. He asked Sharp if he had been injured
by anybody, but the latter did not lighten him at all. After Sharp's death Constable Sorenson, along with the resident justice of the peace at Quatsino, made an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death but the report does not indicate the cause of death.

ENDANGER LIVES BY THEIR PRANKS

Gang of Boys Will Now Have to Appear Before the Magistrate

As the result of their pranks carried to a point where they might easily have endangered the lives of passengers traveling on the street cars, a round dozen of youthful offenders, who came within reach of the strong arm of the law. Informations will be sworn out against a number of boys living in the vicinity of the brick yard
on Douglas street, and their appearance before the magistrate will be insisted upon.

Several complaints concerning the conduct of the gang have been made to the police and the limit was reached when about two weeks ago a bright idea seized the gang and after purchasing a quantity of grease from a saddler's shop nearby, they laboriously greased the rails of the tramway track for a distance of nearly fifty feet. The youngsters chose a spot on the hill a short distance from the end of the track.

The first car, northbound, when it struck the greased portion of the rails, gathered a momentum before unknown
and plunged down the hill at a terrific rate, the wheels sliding along the track and refusing to grip the rails or respond to the brakes, and put on to the limit by the motorman.

Luckily there were not over two passengers in the car which was as a result, comparatively light. Had the car been full it is doubtful if it could have been stopped before it had passed the end of the track and buried the wheels in the earth while the car crew considered it remarkable that the car was not thrown over the track. The incident was immediately reported to the police by the tramway company and after several days
investigation the names of the boys were obtained. Several of the lads are very young and had been led into their pranks by older and larger boys
who were the ringleaders of the gang.
All will have an opportunity of explaining to the magistrate their part in the escapade.

ASSAULT DISMISSED

William McKay Brings Fruitless Summons Against George Wynne.

A wholly unnecessary case took up a good part of the morning at the police court yesterday when George Wynne, of the customs office, appeared in answer to a summons taken out by William McKay, of the post office, charging him with an assault. The evidence showed that the two men arrived about the same time with deposits of public moneys to make in the Canadian Bank of Commerce.
McKay's money was in a locked bag,
and while he was fumbling with the lock, Mr. Wynne, who had $5,000 in an open sack, put his money in at the teller's window. At this McKay pushed Wynne's money away, whereupon Wynne pushed McKay away with his open hand, catching him on the side of the face, an action which led McKay to consider he had been struck. He wrote asking for an apology, and as one was not forthcoming he swore out a summons.

Wynne is a white-haired old gentleman of 74, who has been a resident of Victoria for 45 years, 20 of which has been spent in the customs department. McKay is his junior by about a quarter of a century. In dismissing the case Magistrate Jay said it was an unfortunate matter and he could not see how anything was to be gained by bringing it into court, and he hoped that in the future the parties interested would show one another more consideration. J. A. Alkman appeared for the defense.

PRETTY WEDDING HERE YESTERDAY

Mr. Bernard Schwengers Married to Miss Kate Constance Jay

If there is anything in omens the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schwengers will be a very happy one.
After hiding several days behind a veil of mist the sun shone out brightly yesterday afternoon. A cool, fresh breeze from the north imparted a pleasant keenness to the air as Miss Kate Constance Jay left the home of her father, George Jay, to become the bride of Peter Bernard Schwengers.
Decorated with brilliant autumn blossoms the historic old church of St.
John's looked its best. The evening light fell softly from the stained glass windows on a large gathering of friends who came to see the wedding of the young couple many of them had known from childhood. Just before the clock struck four Mr. Burnett took his seat at the organ and played a prelude by Adolphus Jensen during which the bridal party entered. The lovely bride wore a travelling dress of cream
chiffon cloth and a very becoming hat
of the same shade. A stole of white ostrich feathers, the gift of her sister, Miss Phyllis Jay, completed her costume. The bride carried a bouquet of exquisite white roses and trailing fern and her only ornament was a pearl and amethyst pendant given her by her father.

The dresses of the bridesmaids, Miss Phyllis and Miss Gertrude Jay, were of cream crepe de chine and their bouquets were of pink roses and fern. Each wore a pearl brooch of beautiful design, the gift of the groom. The flower girl, sweet little baby Goward, carried a basket of daisies.

Mrs. Jay, the mother of the bride, was dressed elegantly in dark blue brocade and a hat trimmed with a wreath of rich dark roses. The wedding party was not large, only the immediate relatives of the bride having been invited. The groom was supported by Mr. Edgar Brown and Mr. J. H.
Lawson. The impressive marriage ceremony of the Church of England
was performed by the venerable rector
of St. John's, the Rev. Percival Jenks, assisted by the Rev. Stanley Ard, and the bride was given away by her father.

The choir was present and sang the 67th psalm, and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." As the party adjourned to the vestry the organist played the march from Mendelssohn's
"Songs Without Words." After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where,
in a room tastefully decorated with pale pink dahlias, a dainty repast was partaken of. The guests had an opportunity of seeing and admiring the many beautiful presents sent to the bride as tokens of the sincere esteem
in which she is held in her native city.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwengers will spend their honeymoon in Vernon and other places in the interior of the province, and on their return will take up their residence at the Rocabella.

WHISKEY PRICES UP IN VICTORIA

Increase Decided Upon by Distillers Causes Advance in Wholesale Prices

In Victoria the price of rye whiskey
has been advanced to the retailer, though whether the consumer will have to pay a higher figure for his wet goods remains to be seen. Should the retailers decide to advance the price,
nothing but two for a quarter drinks will cross the mahogany. The increase which had been decided upon by the eastern distillers came to the fore this week. The increase does not appear to have caused any consternation
among the saloon or hotel men. It may be, however, that some of the smaller retailers may find that to meet the wholesale advance it will be necessary to either increase the price of the glass or reduce the size thereof. The increase is about ten cents a gallon for the draught whiskey and about 25 cents a case for case goods.

The reason of the rise, according to the distillers is twofold: the high price of barley and rye and the high wages
and short hours of their employees.
Rye is selling today at about 70 cents, which is a high price, and barley is quoted around 71 cents.

EXPECTS NO OPPOSITION

Mayor Davies Council Will Agree to Proposed Increase in the License Fee

Mayor Davies is convinced that at the forthcoming meeting of the city council the resolution which he proposed to increase the license fee for saloons and hotels to $500, will meet with no opposition. In the spring
when the same proposition was made
it was defeated as some of the aldermen considered that in view of the expense of the license holders had been put in making their property comply with the regulations, it was not fair to make them pay an increased license fee this year. It is stated that it would be better to allow the existing fee to stand until next year.

Should the council decide to increase the license the increase will be operative from and after Nov. 15 next.

HERE AND THERE

Ralph Connor is engaged in writing
the life of Dr. Robertson, so well known as the pioneer missionary of the Presbyterian church in Canada.
The book will soon be ready and its appearance will be welcomed, not only by Presbyterians but by all who are interested in the early history of Canada.

There have lately been real estate dealers from Seattle and Tacoma canvassing among women at their homes in various parts of the city. How many ladies have been induced to place their savings at the disposal of these men has not been learned but that such investments have an element of risk is apparent from information recently received. There is a clause in the constitution of Washington state which declares that only those persons may obtain a title to real estate who are American citizens or have legally declared their intention of becoming such. This clause does not interfere with the title of land obtained by inheritance or foreclosure of mortgage or that obtained for mining or smelting purposes. Investors have been assured that though there was such a clause in the law the state would never put it into execution unless in exceptional cases. Later, however, lawyers have hunted up records and the state has been recovering land for which persons not United States citizens have paid their money.

There is a way to secure a title to any real estate bought by an alien in Washington state, but it will involve some trouble and require knowledge to take advantage of it. The safest way for women is either not to make such investments or to do so by the advice of a lawyer whom they know well and in whom they have absolute confidence.

It would be interesting to know just how much more it costs to live in Victoria now than it did this time last year. If misery loves company it may be a satisfaction to learn that from one side of the continent to the other there are similar complaints of the cost of living. The Washington Post in commenting on this matter says that the burden falls most heavily on those who are living on salaries and who do not share in the higher rate of wages which has prevailed of late among classes of working people.

What there is in a book that causes people to read it is a question that the critics often have difficulty in discovering. Mary J. Holmes, who died recently, was the author of thirty-nine novels which have been read by two millions of people, and yet critics content that every one of these books
had many faults and very slight merit
as literary productions.

In some of the schools of New York
the girls are taught dancing as a form of physical exercise. The Literary Digest has the following description of the result of an experiment begun about a year ago. In this city of wide spaces and sunlit streets, children can have no conception of the dreariness
of life in the districts in large cities where there is little to be seen except bricks and mortar and where the air is laden with the dust and smell of the crowded streets. Anything that will make a break in the dreary monotony of even child life in such a place should be welcomed by all lovers of children.

"Less than a year has passed, but already the number of classes has grown to sixty-eight, and between two and three thousand children are getting instruction. More than one hundred and seventy-five teachers, all of them from the regular staff of the public schools, have voluntarily taken hold of the work, without pay, giving up hours of their scanty leisure to it—and a New York teacher's out-of-school leisure is a precious commodity.

These classes come after school. The roof playground, big as the chimney-stack and dancing clotheless of the neighborhood, is a favorite place for them, unless the weather forbids.
There is a piano up there that can be rolled in and out, and clear open air and sunshine—good things in New York—are all about.

As soon as school is out, the children come trooping up, laughing and expectant. Books, lunch-boxes, and wraps are thrown gaily aside; some of the more ambitious girls, who want to do the thing properly, hustle into tennis shoes and deftly hop out of their skirts, standing forth in "gym" bloom-ers, the admiration of all eyes. Then the line is formed, the teacher gives a few directions, and the piano strikes up.

"It would be hard to describe the dances themselves. One has to see them to get an idea of the kind of spell they possess for the children—
how every muscle of their bodies responds accurately and eagerly to the exhilarating, well-ordered rhythm
of the music, how the dancers move back and forth, gliding, hopping, or tripping, crossing, and recrossing, now fast, now slow, according to some intricate scheme at which an outsider can only stare in wonder with how much zest and abandon at the mimicry
of the Swedish and Russian folk-dances is entered into—the steps on the face (that do not slaps), the quaint cackling, the dignified, ceremoniousness, the whole gamut of music social life.

"The music, too, is always appropriate. It is the music that has grown up with the dance and belongs to it—the strange harmonies and peculiar rhythm of a Slavonic character, spirited, sharply accented air, with the bag-pipe drone intimated in the bass
of 'The Highland Fling'.

"The fun does not last more than twenty minutes, and another group of girls, waiting turns, takes the place of the dancers. But the children have something to carry home with them—a really significant experience.
The noisy, crowded street and the

dinky tenement will be happier places
because of the healthy, full-blooded rhythm that still pulsates through their bodies—and through their souls, too; for it means that they have a new feeling about life; it is 'the little white bird' that is going to keep on singing in their hearts.

"At least that is what those of us who have watched developments closely are beginning to believe. And if this is true in New York, the very centre of our civilization, the place where our national ideals are most relentlessly brought to bay, where every fallacy is most pitilessly forced to light in the working out of a new social order, then it is certain that the movement will reach out to the children of other cities as well."

WOMAN'S WORK

On November 19 the ladies of Knox church will hold a sale of work at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Many busy hands are actively employed in an endeavor
to make it as successful as possible.

It is a great privilege for ladies to be admitted to hear the lectures delivered before the Natural History Society. This society contains among its members many men of wide attainments and diligent research, who when they speak have always something to say worth listening to. They have hitherto preferred rather to instruct a small circle of deeply interested persons than to throw their meetings open to the general public. There are occasions, such as the lecture of Dr. Newcombe on Monday, when the presence of ladies would be a great benefit to themselves, and should not be an unwelcome interference to the deliberations of the society.

All women in British Columbia will be glad to learn that the sanitarium
for the cure of consumption is to be opened very soon. When it becomes necessary to send loved ones away from their own homes for treatment
it is better that they should be taken care of in our own province than go to some distant state where conditions
for recovery are not more favorable
than they will be at Tranquille.

Women are reminded that the time
for placing their names on the voter's list expires in a few days. October is the month for registration this year.

The annual thank offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church will be held in the lecture room this evening at 8 o'clock. A feature of the evening will be an address on "Missions" by the Rev. W. L. Clay, pastor of the church.

A parlor meeting will be held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. at the residence of Mrs. William Scowcroft, Discovery street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the provincial president, Mrs. Spofford will give her report on the Dominion convention.

FASHION HINTS

Velvet ribbon, plain or set with jewels, is worn around the neck when the fashion is decided. It is invariably seen with a Dutch neck, which is now so popular.

A pretty sash, called the Japanese,
is made with wide girdle, short, flat bow, and long ends. Another style is the Dutch loop, made in a large puff of soft silk with two long ends, which are finished with fringe.

A neat jumper suit, made of fancy plaid taffeta, has a semi-gored skirt tucked to the knee, the waist is tucked back and front, and is trimmed with a contrasting color.

Mother-of-pearl cuff links are very much prettier to wear with shirtwaists
than gold plated ones, or even sterling silver. They are quite inexpensive, and a very smart pair can be bought for a dollar.

Discolored gloves with beigepoints are the latest thing for the fashionable. They are invariably seen greatly reduced, which is evidence that their popularity is over.

Long, full capes for evening wear are made of French broadcloth, in white,
tan, chambray, pink, gray, light blue,
lavender, brown and black. The collar and sleeves are handsomely embroidered.

New shades in silks are cedar, cinnamon, and russet. Satin foulards are seen in navy blues, brown and black,
and many of them have polka dots of various sizes.

FOR NERVOUS WOMEN

Every woman who is troubled with that complaint of the age, nervousness,
should get the current number of Harper's Bazaar and read an article in it on nervousness. The Editor of this page is constantly getting letters asking advice about nerves and this article seems to answer most fully all such questions.

Here is one side of the question put most explicitly:

"Value as is suggested, it is second
in importance to moral re-education.
After all, one of the main roots of neurotic misery is a moral one—egotism. The sufferer thinks too much about herself. She interprets the universe in terms of friendliness
or hostility to her own petty interests.
She broods over real or fancied ills;
she becomes morbid or melancholy; or she is the plaything of a hypersensi-tive conscience, magnifying varied offences, the more cruelities, it may be,
of an unprincipled experience, into flagrant crimes against God and man. She passes her time in dark and somber reveries, unable to do anything, a barden to herself and her friends. Well is it for such a sufferer if she fall into the hands of a physician who is also a moralist and a psychologist. He will
by persuasion and sound instruction, seek to change the centre of gravity
to her inner life; he will warn her against the power of attention and introspection to exaggerate and to develop states; he will stir her latent interest and rouse her dormant energies and capacities, in order to make an end of fruitless inactivity, and will fill her days with peace and contentment. The 'nervous' woman needs, above all things, a mental and moral re-education.
She needs to be taught how to keep a healthy idea in the focus of consciousness, and how to keep unhealthy and morbid ideas on the outskirts of her mind. Her emotional nature requires discipline."

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. R. Oliver and their daughter, Miss Fanny, are visiting Mr.
and Mrs. P. Whittington.

James Sutherland, who has been living in Denver, Col., for some time past, returned by the steamer Chip-ewa yesterday.

Mrs. and Miss McIntosh arrived in the city from Winnipeg on Sunday to join Captain McIntosh, who has been here some months. Captain McIntosh was one of the first of the prairie people to recognize the advantages of Victoria, both from a business standpoint and as a place of residence. Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh are on Quebec street making their home.

Miss Ethelyn and Miss Beatrice Humphreys leave this morning for a six months' visit in Southern California.

Mrs. R. A. Ogilvie will be at home
today, Thursday, and every fourth Thursday, at 624 Michigan street.

Mrs. A. M. Wickwire leaves this morning by the North Coast Limited for New York. He will sail from here by the French line steamer La Savoie for Paris.

George P. Praga leaves this morning by the North Coast Limited for New York. He will sail from there on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland for Hamburg, whence he will proceed overland to Greece.

Unexpected Guests

The woman who does her own work
is in danger of gliding into an attitude of shrinking from guests, says
Mary Stewart Cutting, in Harper's Bazaar. Very mistakenly she feels that when she cannot offer the perfection of employed service to her friends
she does not care to ask them to her table. But the man of the house too often has to renounce the privilege dear
to his heart, of bringing home a chance guest. When young and inexperienced he cherishes the illusion that he can do this at any time without warning,
and it takes a series of bitter lessons
to convince him that he is not free in this regard, and even if he sends word
to his wife that one of his old college friends has happened in and that he is bringing him out to dinner, he may be making a terrible blunder.

It is always a pity when this stage is reached. The man who comes to the point where he is afraid to invite a friend home with him who he pleases has lost something beside the privilege.
A certain degree of confidence in his wife's ability to meet emergencies in her eagerness to give him pleasure is gone.

WEDDING FASHIONS

If "all the world loves a lover" the feminine contingent takes an equally active interest in the bride and her belongings, and just at present there is a flutter in many households in regard to the creation in which the fair daughter of the house shall appear at the most important event in her life.

As to materials used for the frock a wide range is now allowed, yet in Paris
the princess gown of white satin is considered in the best style. No attempt is made at originality, or novel and uncommon effects either in the bride's apparel or that of her bridesmaids. French people consider the English and American custom of dressing bridesmaids "picturesquely" as simply fantastic, if not even carnival-esque.

Lace is used about the bodice, and occasionally when the yoke is of lace
or net, the sleeves are of the same material. Lace veils sound alluring, but one must be arranged with greatest care to avoid having the thickest part of the pattern hiding the tip of the nose or one of the eyes, so that in the majority of cases tulle is used rather than lace. Whatever the material it must be arranged carefully so that it falls square or with a point in front,
but always flowing at the back.

The fashion for the coming winter
may be hailed with delight by both tall and short women, for neither need be condeled with and either is to be congratulated on styles that suit her admirably. First, taking into consideration the needs of the woman of many (perpendicular) inches, she will find in her closet when wearing one of the long coats. Also she will be allowed to define her waist, which will please her, for the very tall woman clad in a straight long coat really resembles a bolster stood on end in too many cases. The knee-deep coat cuts in two the exaggerated length of skirt
in a most obliging manner. The waist, so much obscured of late by the sleeves will once more be a feature. Had we been told a twelvemonth ago that the fashions of our dressing gowns would become the model for some of our smartest frocks, the statement would have been greeted with an incredulous smile. Yet, the influence of the kin-dom is still felt, though on street suits
it is quite moderated with the advent of long sleeves.

The little woman may revel to her heart's content in the long redingote,
and the long perpendicular lines employed in the world of dress at present are eminently becoming to her.
She can wear a high-crowned hat if she will and thereby add a cubic (though I am uncertain as to a number of inches that may be—any way
she may add to her height by that of her hat crown, and the long lines of her wrap.

The lady inclined to emboimpost will be in her element with the severe tightly fitting tailored suits. It is not the bony arm that looks the best in the latest sleeve, and all tailors prefer curves to angles in fitting. No over developed figure should look out in two, therefore the longer coats will prove generally more becoming than the Eton. The stout lady looks best when the shoulders are freely outlined and the apparent length of the neck
is increased.

THINKS EASTERN TEAM IS STRONGER

Manager Jimmy Murphy of Tecumshs Still Has Faith in Them

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Manager Jimmy Murphy, of the Tecumshs lacrosse club, who accompanied the Tecumshs to the coast, declares that the one thing that impressed him most in the games he witnessed was the admirable spirit exhibited by the western players who, while putting up a strenuous game, held absolutely no animosity, displaying even in the roughest periods a gentlemanly spirit that speaks well for their training. They show no disposition to retaliate when roughly checked, their conduct while on the field reminding him forcibly of the old days in the east, when players were able to put some restraint upon their pugilistic tendencies.

He expects, as a result of the Tecumshs' trip, several important reforms in western lacrosse. Their goal crease is only twelve feet square, and does not extend behind the nets. The rule forbidding players to go inside the crease is never enforced, and as a result the goalkeeper is greatly hampered. The players shoot from farther out than in the east, and the net-tender is invariably checked when a shot is made on the flags.

Manager Murphy expects to see the introduction of legislation shortly embodying a rule to enlarge the crease and widen the goal posts to the same width as in the N.E.L.

Another change will probably be made covering "foals." The obsolete rule which compels a referee to stop the game as soon as an illegal play occurs still retains on the coast, and the consequent delay very often results to the advantage of the offending team, players very often committing fouls deliberately so as to have the play stopped when their goal is in danger.

When a player is ruled off he is handed a check upon which is stamped his time penalty.

Mr. Murphy thinks that Tecumshs are a stronger team than New Westminster, and has no doubt that they could beat them on neutral grounds. The westerners lack science along certain lines, and have not developed the finer points of the game.

Montreal Franchise for Sale.
Montreal, Oct. 23.—The Montreal baseball franchise in the Eastern league is for sale. Farrell and Griffiths, who owned the team this year, are said to have lost $25,000.

SPORT—
Detroit Team for Cuba.
New York, Oct. 23.—Matty McIntyre, the Staten Island member of the Detroit American league managers, is figuring on taking a team of Detroit players to Cuba next month. George Davis, of the White Sox, has a similar project in view. As Tip O'Neill's proposed jaunt of the All-Americans to the Pacific coast has been abandoned, McIntyre has secured the services of Kilian, Schaefer, O'Leary, Mullin, Willett, Siever, Payne and Lowe. The other Tigers have been told to their homes. McIntyre will fill his team as the Detroit champions.

Shrub to Live at 'Peg.
Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—At a smoker tendered to him last night by the Athletics of the city Alfred Shrub said: "I intend to return to Canada and settle in Winnipeg. I will devote myself to the training of long distance runners in the Canadian west. I intend to stop in Toronto, but I find Winnipeg more congenial."

Another Fistic Squabble.
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—Another championship squabble is on. Abe Attell states absolutely that he will not fight Freddie Weeks for the championship unless Weeks weighs in at ringside at 122 pounds with fighting togs on.

Weeks says positively. He will not weigh with fighting clothes, that it is impossible. Attell is determined to demand such weight in the face of Attell's defiance to fight Joe Gans at 133 pounds ringside. Many members of the sporting fraternity believe that Attell is simply squabbling for press effect in a Nolan or in a fight. The latter view is the more probable. Attell is disgusted over the controversy and if the men do not come to some agreement soon, will call the match off.

J. B. A. Junior Team
The following players have signed their intention to play for the J. B. A. Junior team: Cyril Sedger, Thompson, Bendroit, R. Scott, Gregg, Fred, Elworthy, Dakers, Dinsdale, Thomas, Irving, Hyland, Cox. These players and all other members under eighteen are requested to be at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock as a practice game has been arranged.

Golf Contests Begin.
The men's monthly medal competition of the Victoria Golf club will be held at the Oak Bay links on Saturday, and thereafter as usual on the first Saturday of every month. This similar competition for ladies will be held on a day to be arranged by them.

Catarth, Pneumonia, Consumption
Death's fateful trinity they are often called. Catarth is the first stage, pneumonia often follows. This can all be averted by using healing, balsamic Catarthozone, an antiseptic that penetrates the remotest air cells of the lungs. Catarthozone reaches the entire mucous surface of the throat and breathing apparatus; it carries health wherever it goes, bringing instant relief and is absolutely certain to cure. Don't delay, get Catarthozone today. It means health, certain cure. Two months' treatment $1.00, trial size 25c. Catarthozone is guaranteed.

CHANGE SCHEDULE OF SENIOR GAMES

Uniteds Dropping Out and Egeria Not Due for Six Weeks

The football team of the H. M. S. Shearwater will make its initial appearance of the season in the Victoria District league series this afternoon at the York Point barracks when the sailors will meet the Garrison eleven. The games between the naval and military teams are always interesting, and this should prove no exception. The Garrison displayed good form against the Regiment last Saturday, and should do better today. The naval representatives always have to be reckoned with, however, and they may surprise the soldiers. R. J. Fell has been appointed referee of the game.

There will be a meeting of the league executive at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening to draw up the schedules for the junior and intermediate series. Entries for these are now being received by Secretary Berkeley. There may be a re-arrangement of the senior schedule as well. The Victoria Uniteds have about decided to drop out of the series, while the H. M. S. Egeria will not arrive in port for some six weeks as yet and as a result there will have to be a switch around in the dates so as to prevent two byes occurring on one day. The Egeria team is slated to play its first game a week from today, but as the boat will not be here there is no chance for the game. The Victoria Uniteds' points will likely be awarded to all the teams and the schedule shifted so as to obviate any byes until the Egeria arrives, when there will be a bye each Saturday.

$3,000 For Football Player.
London Daily Mail: The Chelsea secretary has been at Blackburn several days attempting to secure Cameron, the Rover's left-back, for the crippled London team. Cameron is understood to be perfectly willing to go south, and the Rovers are willing to part with him for £600 or thereabouts. The Chelsea directors discussed the price last night after the arrival of their team in Blackburn, but decision was postponed until today. Cameron, whose transfer has been sought by Tottenham Hotspur, Preston North End, West Bromwich Albion and other good clubs, is displaced from today's team against Chelsea by Haywood.

LIGHT RUGBY TEAM FOR NANAIMO GAME

Composite Fifteen From Bays and Victorias to Be Chosen

The rugby team which will represent Victoria against Nanaimo at the Coal city on Sunday, will be a composite fifteen selected from the two local clubs, the Victorias and James Bay. A number of the Victoria club players are now being selected for positions on the team which will be made up of the Bays. In consequence it will be a lighter team than could be placed in the field, but it will be a strong one and local enthusiasts expect them to record a victory. The team will be finally selected tonight. A dispatch from Nanaimo says of the game:

"The first rugby football match of the local season will be played on the Cricket grounds on Sunday afternoon next between the Hornets of this city and the Victoria team. The Hornets will line up as follows: Pull back, W. Graham; three-quarter backs, A. Stewart, E. Snowden, M. Vickers, J. Caruthers; half backs, T. Bennett, J. Dixon; forwards, T. Watson, J. S. Wilson, J. Woodward, W. Roper, J. Davies, H. Miller, T. Jordan and W. Brown; reserve forwards, W. Kirkbride, J. McKinnell, O. Dobson."

The Victoria team will leave by the 3 o'clock E. & N. train Saturday afternoon, returning on Sunday.

International Football

At a meeting of the International Football Committee the secretary was instructed to inquire as to the grounds available for the amateur international match, England vs. Ireland, on December 7. It was to be suggested to France that the match between England and France should be played at Portsmouth on March 23. Austria was to be informed that the Football Association hoped to send a team to represent England on the occasion of their International Exhibition and Sports gathering at Vienna next May.

The international trial match, North vs. South, was fixed for January 27, 1908, to be played on the Manhester City ground.

Tommy Burns Unhurt

Oakland, Oct. 23.—In a letter received today from Al Neal, manager for Tommy Burns, and dated Trinidad, word has reached Isaac Neal that both Burns and his manager were in the wreck at Earl station, Cal., but both escaped injury. The two occupied a drawing room and the letter says they were not only uninjured, but were able to render assistance to the trainmen in releasing the injured.

The wreck occurred at Earl, Cal., where the California east-bound limited left the track, killing the engineer and fatally injuring the fireman.

Burns and Neal were en route to England, where Burns has a fight scheduled with Mori, the English champion. The letter refutes the word received here, that Burns sustained an injured hip and Neal had a sprained ankle.

INTERMEDIATES TO PLAY NEXT WEEK

Opening Game of League Season Booked for Thanksgiving Day

The first match in the intermediate rugby league will take place on Thanksgiving Day between the James Bay Athletic association and the high school. There is a senior game booked for the same day between Victoria and Nanaimo, and the intermediates will probably furnish the curtain-raiser for the big contest, though no time has been set for the game as yet.

A meeting was held last evening at the office of Moresby and O'Reilly, over the Imperial bank, to arrange the intermediate schedule for the Templeman trophy, but beyond deciding on the date of the first game nothing was done by the delegates, the university school team not being represented. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday evening at the same place, when the dates for the season will be definitely arranged.

All three teams in the league which is confined to players under sixteen years of age, are said to be strong, and some interesting rugby should be furnished by the youngsters.

FIRST OF THE ALL-CANADAS

Grace Returns From the Australian Lacrosse Trip

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Frank Grace, an Arrnprior boy, who was a member of the All-Canadas, the Western Ontario lacrosse team, which recently toured Australia, was in the capital, on his way to Arrnprior. He speaks in high terms of the treatment accorded the Canadians by the Australians.

The team went from Australia to India and there disbanded, some going to France, and the rest to England. The tour was a big financial success, and as many as 20,000 people saw some of the games.

Discussing the alleged rough work of the Canadian team, Grace remarked that the reports had been greatly exaggerated. He says that several of the games were far too strenuous to be pleasant, and that the Canadian art or checking did not meet with the approval of the Australians. He indignantly denies the stories that some of the Canadians merited severe punishment for the way the Australian players were handled.

VANCOUVER WILL STAY IN LEAGUE

Present Owners of Franchise May Quit But Others Are Ready

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 23.—It now looks like a certainty that the Vancouver Baseball Association which owned the franchise in the Northwestern league last season will throw up the sponge and withdraw from the league. The Englishmen who backed the team through the disastrous season feel they have a just grievance against the other magnates in the league and unless this is adjusted the baseball association as it now stands will be dissolved.

Shortly after the meeting of the franchise owners, presided over by President W. H. Lucas in Seattle two days after the close of the season, the directors of the local club issued an ultimatum to the league in a formal demand for the forfeit money placed at the beginning of the year. Thirty days was the length of time given the other managers to reconsider their decision to allow the money to remain in the league treasury. As yet no satisfactory answer has been received from President Lucas, and it appears that the demand will be ignored.

In the league meeting the representative of the Vancouver association vigorously opposed the motion to keep the forfeit money in the treasury and at that time declared Vancouver was through with the Northwestern league. President Shredder of the Tacoma club was the only other magnate to come to the support of Vancouver in its contention and the two men left the meeting in a huff when the motion finally carried over their protest.

However, even should the present directors dissolve the club and throw up the franchise, Vancouver will nevertheless be represented in the Northwestern league next year. The franchise was only voted the present association for one year and that time has expired. No extension of time was asked at the league meeting and none was given. Accordingly, a half dozen experienced baseball men with financial backing stand ready to apply for the franchise the moment the present directors give it up.

Among those who are looking longingly at Vancouver is Bob Brown, the skipper of the Aberdeen club last season. Brown is a favorite in Vancouver and, having demonstrated his ability as a manager by winning the pennant in the season which has just closed, he would be more than acceptable to the British Columbia city fans.

Should Brown be awarded the franchise it would undoubtedly mean that Aberdeen would not be in the league next year. The Aberdeen franchise and the players would be transferred by the league to Vancouver. One other city would then be added to complete the six-club circuit, it is rumored. As the league has reserved Everett that town might be added.

Vancouver proved clearly last summer that it is a good baseball town. Enthusiasm was just beginning to reach high tide when the season closed. The Englishmen had learned the great American game and showed their liking for it by visiting the park whenever the team was at home. As the patrons of the game had an aversion from sitting in the bleachers and the great majority preferred the grandstand the gate receipts were larger for the attendance than in any other city in the league.

NEW ATHLETIC MARKS

Sixteen American Records Hung Up During Past Season

New York, Oct. 23.—The summer athletic season was prolific of new records, sixteen old ones having been shattered—most of them by members of clubs of the metropolitan district. Ralph Rose, the Californian, is the individual leader, having lowered records with the 8, 12, 18, 21 and 28 pound shots.

The records which, it is said, the record committee of the A.A.U. will ratify next month, besides those made by Rose, include the following:

99-yard run—M. W. Sheppard, Irish-American A.C. Time, 2:01 4-5.

Four mile run—George V. Bonhag, Irish-American A.C. Time, 20:11 1-5.

Boston A. A. Marathon race of twenty-five miles, approximately—Thomas Longboat. Time, 2:24 4-5.

11-yard low hurdle race—S. C. Northbridge, Irish-American A. C. Time, 12 1-5.

Pole vault for height—W. R. Dray, Yale university, 12 feet 5 1/2 inches.

16-pound hammer throw—M. P. McGrath, N.Y.A.; 173 feet 7 inches.

Throwing 56-pound weight—J. J. Flanagan, Irish-American A.C.; 38 feet, 8 inches.

Throwing the discus—Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American A.C., 136 ft., 10 inches.

YUKON PLAYERS ARRIVE IN TOWN

The Klondike Basketball Team Reaches City on Southern Tour

Two members of the Yukon Basketball team which will tour the coast during the next couple of months arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver and the other member players will probably come over today. The two arrivals are Milton Douglas and A. S. Reid, both of them former Victorians. The other members of the team are Mike Finlaison, Joe Manook, Eddie Jackson, W. Carter, D. Douglas and A. S. Reid. The players are down on a holiday and are picking up a little expense money playing games along the route.

The team will be seen in a game in this city despite the refusal of the Y. M. C. A. to arrange a match. The Fifth Regiment Basketball team will take the visitors on and a game will be played in the Drill Hall shortly. No date has yet been fixed for the match.

Mr. Reid is secretary of the team and Finlaison, an old Victorian is captain. They are rated pretty highly in the north and expect to do well from both a playing and a financial standpoint during their trip.

The team is the pick of the five Yukon teams. The team will work out at the James Bay Athletic Association during their stay in this city, the courtesy having been extended them by the aquatic club.

What W-e-e-ah Really Is

"W-e-e-ah" holds the baseball public of America. Nobody knows what it means exactly, but they are all using it. In answer to many queries, Hughie Jennings, manager of the Detroit American League team, the man who coined the expression, has finally explained just what it is all about.

Translated from the Jenningsese "W-e-e-ah" would be "That's the way." The Tiger leader tells how he started using it.

So I changed it to "That's the way—ah!" from this I changed it to just the way—ah! Finally I found I was just yelling "W-e-e-ah."

In the same way all the wild shrieks the leader of the champions get out of his system were developed. They are but the shortening of expressions he uses to direct his men. They have grown accustomed to them, and they mean as much as though he was speaking English.

Jennings leaves Detroit for West Virginia in a few days. He will stay for several weeks in the mountains at a rest cure, recuperating from the hard campaign. And while upon the wilds he will start his study of Spanish, to use on the coaching lines next year. "It is no joke. It is serious about it. Spanish I go to be hurried at the helpless athletes next year."

TO PUT VICTORIA ON SPORTING MAP

Enthusiast Would Have League Baseball and Senior Lacrosse in 1908

Discussing the proposal to put Victoria in the Northwestern baseball league next year, a well known local sportsman made the suggestion yesterday that a fund of $5000 be raised to back both the ball team and a senior lacrosse team to enter the series with New Westminster, Vancouver and the Maple Leafs. There is the nucleus of a first class lacrosse team in the intermediate team of the past season and it is believed that it would not require a great deal of strengthening to measure up to the senior league standard.

That teams would be self-sustaining, the gentleman in question had no hesitation in admitting, but he believed that the money could be raised by popular subscription just as an advertising venture for Victoria. And if the teams were financially successful, and there seems to be no good reason why they should not be, the backers of the team could draw down their money again at the end of the season, meanwhile reaping all the advantages that the widespread advertising such teams would receive and give the city.

There seems to be a strong sentiment prevailing that Victoria should put itself back on the sporting map. The city once was widely known through its sporting organizations and it is felt that it is time to come to the surface again. A splendid athletic field will be available next year in addition to the Oak Bay Athletic park, as it is planned to move the new ball grounds to an Exhibition park ready in the springtime. The new athletic park is located back of the present grandstand and contains plenty of room for both baseball and lacrosse. The ground is to be put in shape this fall and commodious stands are to be erected before the 1908 season opens.

ENGLISH FIGHTERS GOOD

Pat O'Keefe, Johnny Summers and Owen Moran Secure Bouts

New York, Oct. 23.—The three British fighters who were brought over by Charley Harvey a few weeks ago, have all secured matches now, and soon we will know whether they are the jammy goods or of the quince variety.

Pat O'Keefe, the middle-weight, is an unknown to us. He was signed up yesterday to meet Sailor Burke, but no club has backed the match as yet.

ENGLISH FIGHTERS GOOD

Pat O'Keefe, Johnny Summers and Owen Moran Secure Bouts

New York, Oct. 23.—The three British fighters who were brought over by Charley Harvey a few weeks ago, have all secured matches now, and soon we will know whether they are the jammy goods or of the quince variety.

Pat O'Keefe, the middle-weight, is an unknown to us. He was signed up yesterday to meet Sailor Burke, but no club has backed the match as yet.

Of the three O'Keefe looks to be the selling package. Pat might be there and he may surprise the world, but to use the exact words of a London sporting writer, "He is expected to beat only the second-class middle-weights."

When the men who have seen him say this we cannot expect much of him.

Johnny Summers, the lightweight, is well known here. His terrific battle with Tommy Murphy at Philadelphia, in which he dropped the Harlem lad to the floor twice, stamps him as a tough kid. He met Young Erne later and fought six rounds, but claims he was not in the best of shape.

Johnny is to meet Bert Keyes on November 1, in a ten-round bout at New Haven, and large doings are bound to come off. Both Keyes and Summers are of the slam-bang class and in a ten-round fight there should be pyrotechnics enough to satisfy any one.

Owen Moran, the bantam, is the star of the trio. He is the boy who came over two years ago under the wing of Tom O'Rourke, and battered Monte Attel in a twenty-round private fight.

Abe Attel, who was here at the time, bet his diamond pin and ring on Monte, thinking it a pipe over the British pug, but after the first round Abe never even had a thought of regaining the junk.

Moran beat Monte at every turn, giving him an unmerciful licking and showing the millionaire sports who attended just what a really first-class Britisher could do. He has the double-barrelled left that made Peter Jackson famous. He chaps it over on "jaw" and like lightning bops his man again, before he recovers from the first welt. It is the most tantalizing left seen here in years, and Moran simply beacons himself to the skies that night with his cleverness.

He fought a six-round draw with Danny Lamberty later at Philadelphia, and then returned home. He is easily the best English boxer seen here in years, and since he won from Tommy O'Toole Saturday night at Philadelphia, will chase Jimmy Walsh or Abe Attel.

On the Waterfront

NEAR COLLISION WITH THE TITAN

Blue Funnel Liner, Bound to Vancouver, Had Narrow Escape

STEAMERS PASSED CLOSE

The White Painted Vessel Was Within Thirty Feet of the Big Freighter

The big Blue Funnel line steamer Titan, when she left here last week for Vancouver, also had a narrow escape from collision during the fog, according to information brought by recent arrivals from Vancouver, who talked with officers of the steamer when she was discharging there. It seems that the Titan, after discharging her cargo at the outer wharf, left there at 8 a. m., October 8, for Vancouver during the fog. About two miles south of Trial Island when she was proceeding slowly, blowing her fog alarm at the regulation interval, another whistle was suddenly heard. The Titan blew a whistle and her course was altered one point to starboard. Then from the fog a steamer, white-painted, was seen almost on her starboard bow. The Titan went astern immediately, and the other steamer sheered, just in time to avert a collision, passing within thirty feet of the side of the big steamer. No report of the incident was made here as far as can be learned.

SMALL PROFITS OF PACIFIC COAST CO.

Operating Expenses Total Within Four Per Cent. of the Gross Earnings of the Year

The operating expenses of the Pacific Coast Steamship company's vessels during the last year have totalled about 30 per cent of the gross earnings of the steamers and for three months the fleet was operated at a loss. The annual report of the Pacific Coast company, just issued shows that the rate of operating expenses to gross earnings was 96 per cent as compared with 88 per cent during the preceding year. During the preceding fiscal year, the net earnings of the last fiscal year the steamship company showed an actual loss in operation. During January expenses ran $4,750 above earnings; in February the loss was $5,500 and in May the company ran behind $2,648.

In explanation of the showing made by the steamship department the Pacific Coast company shows that labor costs have increased 30.5 per cent over the preceding fiscal year; materials and supplies rose 15 per cent and the cost of fuel rose 22 per cent. Gross earnings increased 7 per cent during the year but the costs of operation rose altogether out of proportion to the cost of doing business.

The narrow margin of $154,911 in profit for a year's business is declared to be altogether too close for safety.

Labor troubles which have troubled the steamship company in a protracted fight resulted in a heavy cost to the corporation.

There are many interesting showings in the Pacific Coast company's annual report as applied to the steamship department. The increase in gross earnings is shown to be $258,691, the net earnings decreased $253,544. During the year operating expenses increased $512,255.

On the property account $1,178,676 was put out in partial payments for the steamships Governor and President and the construction of the new steam schooner Delphi, built at Seattle. There was also expended $2,500 on account of the repurchase of the steamship Montana from the Japanese government.

For repairs to the fleet $480,318 was expended as against $290,811 for the preceding year. Ordinary repairs cost $116,772 and extraordinary repairs $363,546. These are charged against the operating expenses. The steamship Corona, wrecked at the entrance to Eureka harbor, represented a loss to the corporation of $11,297.

On account of the increased cost of fuel, the company has taken over three colliers from the fleet. Navigation company, owing for the material on time. The deferred payment of $500,000 is payable in eight annual instalments of $62,500, bearing 5 per cent interest. The three new ships are rated A1 for twenty years of ocean service. Because of cheapness of operation and large carrying capacity they are declared to be suitable for coastwise freight service.

TURBINES STAND TEST

Lasting Qualities of New Engines Are Shown by Trials Made by Inventor

C. A. Parsons, inventor of the turbine engines which are used with success in the steamer Lusitania and other fast vessels, who has extensive works at Wallsend-on-Tyne, stated recently that the turbine has been subjected to most exhaustive tests and there were no signs of wear and tear. The turbines of the steamer King Edward have just been opened at the end of the sixth year, and there is not the slightest sign of wear to the turbine blades. The machinery is practically the same as when the vessel was built. There is an economy in the consumption of coal and a vast increase of speed.

The turbine, the first craft fitted with the steam turbine, is at present lying in the Tyne at Wallsend, and after many years of service, a speed of 24 1/2 knots has been maintained on 24 1/2-mile run. The turbine has run many thousands of miles, frequently encountering heavy seas, and her turbines, which have just been overhauled, are the same as when they were installed.

The success of the Lusitania and the Mauritania—the latter made twenty-six knots on the builders' trials—is regarded as an epoch-making departure in marine engineering so far as it applies to high-speed Atlantic liners. The reduction of vibration, giving greater comfort to passengers; increased speed for the same boiler power; and increased cabin accommodation due to smaller machinery space, are the advantages claimed for a steam turbine in the fast Atlantic service.

CHANGES IN PANAMA LINE

Pacific Mail Steamship Company Buys and Charters Vessels For That Service

The Pacific Mail Steamship company is reorganizing its line from San Francisco to Panama in view of the announcement that the United States government would establish a line to the isthmus. The steamer Indiana, which was chartered recently to bring Japanese from Honolulu to British Columbia, has been purchased from Burness, Hibbard & Co., and the steamer Mackinaw has been chartered from Schubach & Hamilton. The steamer City of Peking has also been taken from retirement and overhauled for the run. The Acapulco, which sunk at her wharf at San Francisco has been repaired and will also be used.

It is many months since the Pacific mail company's Panama service was conducted with regularity. The ships on the line are getting into the veteran class and do not make the time they used to. The frequent disasters on the Harriman, San Francisco-Portland run have helped to reduce the Panama service, steamships being taken off the southern line to replace those wrecked on the northern run. The City of Panama and Costa Rica, former Panama liners, are now running between the Bay city and Portland.

The Mackinaw, which has been chartered by the Harriman company, will be used on the Central American coast as a special coffee ship. This will release the Barracouta, now engaged in that service, for the regular run. The Indiana will be placed on the regular run.

The Indiana came to this coast during the Klondike excitement. This "new" Pacific Mail liner was built by Cramp in 1872. It will cost a large sum of money to put the City of Peking, which was condemned as unseaworthy, eight months ago, in such shape that the inspectors will grant a license for the vessel to carry passengers.

WHALER TYEE, JR., HERE, CALLS FOR HER CREW

Newly-Built Whaler for Admiralty Island Station Picks Up Norwegians and Goes North

Coming from the yards of the builders, the Moran shipyards, at Seattle, the twin screw whaling steamer Tyee Jr., built for the Admiralty Whaling company, promoted by Messrs. Barneson-Hibbard & Co., and in which Dr. Rismuller of the Pacific Whaling company is interested, arrived at the outer wharf yesterday morning to embark eight Norwegian whale hunters, who recently arrived here from Norway and have been working at the Sechart whaling station pending the completion of the Admiralty Island station.

Capt. E. E. Crockett, formerly of the tug Anna Barron, who is in command of the Tyee, invited a number of Victorians to take a short cruise on the vessel yesterday morning, several of the officials of the Pacific Whaling company being among those on board.

The Tyee, Jr., is similar in construction to the steam whaler Orion which was built at Christiansburg, Norway, for the Pacific Whaling company. It is fitted with twin screws and fitted to burn oil as fuel. The harpoon gun, similar to those of the Orion and St. Lawrence, being of the regulation Seven Fox model, was fitted to the boat of the steamer. The engines are very strong, and it is expected that with the twin screws the steamer will be able to manoeuvre much more readily than the local whaling vessels.

The Tyee's speed is 100 feet long, 15 feet beam and has a draught of 10 feet. On her trial she made a speed of thirteen knots an hour but is not expected to average more than eleven knots an hour in service.

She left last night for the whaling station at Admiralty Island near Sitka, from which she is to be operated next spring.

VENTURE SAILS

Boscovitz Company's Steamer Goes to Northern B. C. Ports

The steamer Venture of the Boscovitz Steamship Company, which brought a large cargo of salmon from the north, left again last night for Prince Rupert, Naas, Port Simpson and way ports of the northern British Columbia coast. The steamer will make calls at Bella Coola and Klusquit. The Boscovitz Steamship Company has been awarded the contract of carrying the mails to Bella Coola, and will include that port on each trip. The call is being made at Klusquit to load salmon from the local cannery.

BIG COAL FLEET

Shipments to United States and Japan Large From Newcastle

Officers of the British steamer Hatasu, which arrived at San Francisco on Tuesday with 3,270 tons of coal from Newcastle, Australia, say that the Australian port is congested with coal ships for America and Japan. Over 100 vessels are waiting to load for this country, while a large number are taking coal to Japan and the Philippines. Such is the feverish haste with which coal is being loaded for both places that the local government is projecting new wharfs in the harbor to accommodate coal carriers.

APPOINTMENTS FOR COAST LIFEBOATS

S. Saunders Gets Banfield Motor Boat—Low Wages Offered

Appointments are being made by the powers that be of coxswains and crews for the lifeboats to be established on the west coast of Vancouver island. Sydney Saunders has been given charge of the lifeboat and station at Banfield creek, and appointments are being made for the Uchelet and Cloose stations. It is stated that Mr. Saunders will have charge of the motor lifeboat which is being built in New Jersey for Banfield.

Some difficulty is being experienced in getting crews for the three surf boats. The rate of pay is not proving attractive. It is stated unofficially that the wages offered is $65 per month for coxswains, with $15 monthly as food allowance. For the boat's crews the wages offered are $20 monthly, as a coxswain, with $4 per day when the boat is engaged in active service, with a food allowance. With the demand for labor as at present, it is anticipated the department will have difficulty in filling the boats with men of experience in surf work at the rate of wages offered.

DROWNINGS AT CATALA

Steamer Saratoga Brings News of Loss of Life at the Alaskan Mining Port

The steamer Saratoga, of the Northwestern Steamship company, which has arrived at Seattle from Catala, where she picked up four men who were nearly drowned when some lighters were caught in a storm, brought news of the drowning of five men, three in the attempt to reach the wrecked schooner Martha W. Tuft to rescue a man who had boarded with a view of claiming salvage.

J. Higgins and M. Hendricksen were drowned off Palm Point, a mile from Catala, and the three others, Edwin Olson, Tony de Pasquale and Arthur Williams were drowned in the surf following the overturning of their boat. "Kid" Brady, a prize fighter, had gone out to the wrecked schooner, Martha W. Tuft, the day before, in order, it is said, to claim salvage. He was compelled to spend the night on the wreck and although he called for help it was impossible to reach him because of a storm. In the morning his cries were again heard and then it was that the three men decided to go to the rescue in a row boat. Friends tried to dissuade them, and the futility of the move was pointed out to them in the fact that in half an hour the tide would be so low that the wreck could be reached in safety. But the men started. A breaker struck the craft, overturning it, and the men disappeared in the surf.

The second tragedy occurred at noon. Nine men left camp No. 1 of the Catala company in a small boat to go to the steamer Steward for cargo. They rowed to the line of the breakers when Capt. Smith, in charge, decided that the sea was too rough. The boat was being turned shorewards when a breaker caught it broadside, upsetting it. The accident was partly from the shore and a number of the employees rushed to the rescue. Seven of the men were saved.

The bodies of the two men drowned at Palm Point were recovered, but the others had not been up to the time the Saratoga left.

OVERDUES REACH PORT

Port Caledonia Passed Tatoosh Yesterday and La Tour d'Auvergne is at Bay City

The long overdue British bark Port Caledonia, which left Antwerp with a cargo of cement 153 days ago, passed Tatoosh yesterday bound to Tacoma. The Port Caledonia's long voyage was causing uneasiness and she had been on the overdue list for some time, quoted for reinsurance at ten per cent. The French bark La Tour d'Auvergne has also arrived. She reached San Francisco on Tuesday from Rochester, 113 days out having been delayed by hurricanes. She was reinsured at eight per cent.

There are no other changes in the overdues. The anxiety for the bark Silberhorn, which left Newcastle 133 days ago with a cargo of coal for Pisagua, is increasing, and it is probable that the insurance on this vessel will be raised from 85 per cent, to 90 per cent, within a few days. It is feared that the vessel's cargo has become heated and taken fire.

CAPT. WEAVER ILL.

Master of Steamer President Obligated to Leave Command

With Capt. Weaver seriously ill with typhoid fever and First Officer Brown in charge, the steamer President reached Seattle on Tuesday with 663 passengers from Cape Nome. The steamer had a stormy voyage. During the southbound trip C. M. Hammond, wireless telegraph operator on board, assisted by J. C. Green of the Nome Nuggett and J. Ryan published a daily paper, the Mass Telegram. News of the world was received during most of the voyage by wireless, and when this means of communication failed, news of the world was published anyway, as is witnessed by a graphic account of the death of Emperor Francis Joseph and the universal war which followed. Vienna was reported in flames, President Roosevelt, according to a despatch from Washington, called an extraordinary meeting of the cabinet to consider war plans and Europe was described in an uproar of rebellion and war.

TARTAR COMES TO DOCK FROM VANCOUVER TODAY

Expected to Reach Esquimalt, Conveyed By Steamer Salvor, About Five O'clock Today

The steamer Tartar did not come to Esquimalt yesterday as she was expected to, remaining at anchor in English bay after being loaded by a telegram received yesterday morning by the British Columbia Salvage company states that the steamer will leave for Esquimalt this morning at 6 a. m., coming at a speed of about eight or nine knots an hour. She will be conveyed by the steamer Salvor, and is expected to reach Esquimalt about 5 p. m. The dock is being prepared to receive her and she will be hauled out at once. The two holes made in the steamer's bow have been patched, the work having been completed on Tuesday night. The big centrifugal pumps which were placed on board the Tartar were found to handle the small inflow without difficulty and it is anticipated that their services will be required more as a precautionary measure than anything else.

The steamer Charmer is still lying alongside the wharf of the British Columbia Marine Railway company, and will probably be hauled out on the marine ways today, following the launching of the steamer Otter. This steamer was taken from the slip to make way for the steamer Princess Beatrice and then for the Princess Royal, which was hauled out to have a new propeller fitted.

H. M. S. Shearwater left the dock yesterday.

PILOTAGE COMMISSIONERS

Will Arrange Meeting With Board of Pilotage Committee

A meeting of the pilotage board will be held within the next few days at which a date will be arranged for a joint meeting of the pilotage commissioners and the special committee of the board of trade, which has been investigating pilotage affairs. There is now a full membership of the pilotage board in the city.

The application of the new schedule of pilotage fees, which were found excessive and consequently caused considerable complaint among shipping men and others, has been withheld pending this meeting. The decision to alter the scale of charges whereby pilotage fees would be assessed by tonnage as well as draught, instead of by draught alone as heretofore, was made last spring, and the proposed rates were sent to the marine department at Ottawa. In August the rates were made operative, but owing to the immediate chorus of protest the application of the new schedule was withheld.

DAMAGED BY STORM

Deckhand of Steamer Mackinaw Has Narrow Escape

In a storm which partially destroyed the navigating bridge, crushed a metal life boat and twisted iron stanchions on the steamship Mackinaw, when the steamer was bound from Nome to Seattle, P. Orleson, a deck hand, had a narrow escape from death. Picked up on the crest of a big wave which washed across the ship's deck by the wheelhouse, Orleson was carried partially over the vessel's rail and hurled back by another comb. The man was scratched and bruised against the iron stanchions and the wall of the wheelhouse, but otherwise was unhurt, and was soon able to be about his duties.

The wave which tossed Orleson snapped off the iron uprights supporting the ship's navigating bridge, and, rising under the bridge, lifted that structure clear from its steel beams. The bridge was slewed about and dropped back again, somewhat strained and out of place, but apparently solid. Wooden uprights were rigged to support the structure.

Yukon Closed

Saturday, October 12, saw the closing of navigation on the Yukon river, according to advices from the north. The steamer Casca was the last steamer to leave White Horse, and it is believed that she was unable to reach Dawson before approaching winter, put a stop to navigation.

Marine Notes

Tacoma is offering a large tract of tide lands to the local shipbuilding company as an inducement to have the yards removed from Seattle to that city.

The C. P. R. steamer Montague arrived at Hongkong on Saturday last from Victoria.

If you want your money safely invested, there is no better place than Victoria. There is no city in Canada where property is as low, and it is bound to go up sooner or later. Its future is assured, and it will yet be the Los Angeles of Western Canada. It has the situation—scenery in riotous profusion, and the most delightful climate in Canada.

We do not ask you to invest money, except where we invest our own, and that of our relatives and personal friends. Do not expect to double your money in a day. At the prices and terms we are giving you, you can afford to wait, and if you do, you will be handsomely rewarded. Let us give you some facts about the lots we offer you.

1. They are between Fairfield Road and Dallas Road, close to Ross Bay.
2. The Street Railway is absolutely certain to pass them in the near future.
3. They are nice lying, large lots, with a superb outlook over the water.
4. The price is only $300 each.
5. The terms are within the reach of all—only $15 down, and balance $10 per month—nearly 2 1-2 years to pay.
6. These lots will look cheap at $600 long before they are paid for. We have only a limited number. Get on the ground floor.

OBJECTIONS TO VOTERS' NAMES
Both Parties Have Combined to Purge Local Electoral List

The executives of both the political parties have taken a great interest in the voters' list this year, and have combined to purge it of all names which admittedly should not be included. Those which are to be struck off by this agency fall mainly under two heads: The names of dead voters which still encumber the roll, and the names of voters who no longer reside in the province. There is also a few cases of supposed duplication of the same name.

Altogether there are 184 names which have been objected to this year, and in accordance with the act formal notices of the objections lodged have been mailed to the last known place of address of the parties by W. P. Marchant, acting registrar of voters for Victoria city electoral district. The list which is being thus purged is used both in provincial and Dominion elections. For civic elections additional registration at the city hall is necessary, unless the would-be voter is also a property holder in the city.

Greater changes have been made in the list this autumn than ever before, since the list was compiled. New applications have been received to the extent of 438 and 184 objections have been lodged as above stated. In the Esquimalt electoral district 52 new applications have been made. The acting registrar also has the right, without an objection being lodged, to strike off the names of persons whose deaths are recorded in the registry office. A list of the names which have been objected to is subjoined, arranged in alphabetical order, with the number on the voters' list attached, and the acting registrar requests that any who may have definite information regarding any of the persons whose names appear in the list to communicate with him at his office in the court house. The court of revision, which all objections will be heard and determined will be held November 4.

abstract questions of any kind. The writer was not able to discover in any part of Canada a single person who was within measurable distance of being preoccupied by any anxieties regarding lack of food.

Patriotism and citizenship are more intimate and real in Canada than they are in England. And, by that token, Canadian patriotism differs in its quality from English patriotism. In England we have some true patriotism, we have patriotic sentiment, and we have self-absorbed indifference. In Canada the writer found practically no indifference—climate influences play some part here, inertia of any sort is foreign to air so stimulating and exhilarating as that of Canada—very little sentimentality, and much true patriotism, of a practical, reasoning sort.

English readers should endeavor to bear in mind the fact that, whereas very much of the toiling activity of the old world is devoted to the work of mere maintenance, no able-bodied man in a country like Canada is content to devote any considerable proportion of his energies to anything less than work of development and increase. To "keep good time," means a failure to be a Canadian. It is a state of things he is by no means inclined to tolerate, and the most optimally potent land in which he lives justifies that optimistic attitude of mind.

Such a mental attitude, when justified by the material facts of life, as it is in Canada, engenders an exceedingly practical habit of thought. The typical Canadian approaches most subjects with the direct question: "Is this a practical business proposition?" Will it work? Is it, so to say, a solvent scheme? Is it a state of things he would soundly support? Broadly speaking, the proposition which cannot satisfactorily stand the test of such examination will not appeal to the average Canadian. Life as he sees it is too busy, too rich, and too important a business to trifle with. The world is full of thoroughly practical and profitable "propositions." Why waste time tinkering with the impractical, the doubtful, or the chimerical?

It should not be necessary for the writer to disclaim any hint of a suggestion that the typical Canadian is a soulless or unimaginative materialist. So very far is he from that, that in the mere laying out of his streets he displays finely the imaginative optimism which has always gone to the building of empires. No, the typical Canadian never forgets posterity; he lives in the very heart of constructive romance, and his national actions of the past quarter of a century (to say nothing of his fighting past) place him high above the suspicion of mere utilitarianism.
